NEW YORK, November 18, 1871.

BANKS SUSPENDED.

A run on the Bowling Green Savings Bank caused a suspension at three o'clock this afternoon. The officers of the bank say that at the end of sixty days it will be able to meet all demands.

It is reported that there will be a run on other banks on Monday.

The National Savings Bank also suspended making three in all.

There was considerable excitement about the Guardian Savings Bank to-day. The depositors were assembled in large numbers around the bank, though no demonstrations were made. The friends of Tweed tried to pacify the crowd by saying the bank would resume on Monday. Prominent Tammanyites have had official connection with all three of the suspended banks, Tweed being President of the Guardian Bank and Police Commissioner Henry Smith of the Bowling Green Bank.

An examination of the accounts of the Guardian Savings Bank by the receiver and clerks shows that there were $57,000 deposited to the credit of the city, while the bank held no city or county bonds or securities. Mr. Roche, one of the Vice Presidents, has given bonds covering the amount deposited to the credit of the Foundling Asylum. The bank holds about two hundred and twenty thousand dollars in real estate, bonds and mortgages.

MANSFIELD-FISK LIBEL SUIT.

The Mansfield-Fisk libel case drew a very large crowd to the Yorkville police court this morning. There was a very formidable array of counsel, something like a hundred newspaper reporters, and about a dozen artists of illustrated papers.

District Attorney Fellows said that as Fisk had filed a bond for his appearance at the Court of General Sessions, the Justice was divested of jurisdiction. The Justice, however, ruled that Fisk was entitled to an examination, and that the plaintiff should be produced.

Miss Mansfield, who was present at the opening of the Court, had in the meantime left, and the officers who went in search of her announced that she could not be found.

The prosecution explained that she had left by his advice, and asked that he be given time for preparation.

Mr. Spencer said that although she had gone away, she had not gone where the "woodbine twineth." [Laughter.] He desired the court to send for that injured individual.

Spencer's remarks were followed by applause in the back part of the court. Mr. McKean requested the court to clear the room if it was repeated, charging it upon the partisans of Fisk.

Mr. Beech suggested that the applause was a compliment to Miss Mansfield.

Mr. McKean said that he had been exposed to ruffianism in court before, and was prepared to expect anything from certain persons.

The court decided to hear the case next Saturday.

Sworn complaints in the case of the suits commenced against Fisk by Miss Mansfield were served this afternoon. They allege that Fisk had at various times in 1869 and 1870 received moneys of Miss Mansfield and used them for speculations in stocks. Fisk has twenty days in which to put in an answer.

CHOLERA.

The cholera at Quarantine is now supposed to have been subdued. There were no deaths since Thursday. The Humboldt, of the same line as the Franklin, is expected on Tuesday. It is feared she will have the disease on board.

The official report of the health officer represents that in all there have been forty-five deaths from cholera on the steamer Franklin. There are now forty patients under treatment. He says that the condition of the Franklin on her arrival was as good as that of any emigrant ship as to food and water.

Later—One death from cholera occurred to-day in Quarantine. Forty case are now in the hospital at West Bank. All are doing well.

GUARDIAN SAVINGS BANK.

The Guardian Savings Bank has been placed in the hands of A. J. Rogers, as public administrator. It has been known as Tweed's bank, the Executive Committee being Owen Brennan, C. Wilber, Jas. Ingersoll, G. Putnam and T. Brennan.

The collapse of the bank is said to be owing to the withdrawal, by Tweed, of a large amount of city and county money deposited there, rendering the bank unable to cash a check for $70,000, presented on yesterday.

THE PARK COMMISSION.

It was currently reported about the City Hall to-day that Henry G. Stebbins, Edward S. Pierrepont and Horace Greeley were agreed upon by Mayor Hall and Duputy Comptroller Green for the vacancies in the Park Commission. Mayor Hall is seeking to ally himself with the reformers, and is trying to get some of the reform Democrats to accept the places recently made vacant.

BOND ROBBERY.

Yesterday afternoon two men entered the office of the Union Trust Company, and while one of them was conversing with the President concerning a loan, the other went into an adjoining room and took one hundred and one bonds, of one thousand dollars each, of the Monticello Railroad Company. One of the men who gave the name of Edwards, was secured, but his confederate escaped with the bonds.

STRIKE.

The Wilkesbarre Iron and Coal Company's men are on a strike, occasioned by the non-payment of wages due. It was agreed at the resumption that the men should be paid between the 10th and 15th of each month, but during the election month the payments were delayed until the 21st. Now they insist on the basis being complied with.

TWEED'S RESIGNATION.

The Evening News, Ben Wood's paper, says in respect to Hall's denying that he has Tweed's resignation, "We reiterate that Tweed has handed his resignation to Mayor Hall, and that it is given on condition that the gentlemen whom Mr. Tweed names shall be appointed as 'boss' of the Department of Public Works."

CAUSE OF THE CHOLERA.

The passengers on the cholera ship Franklin say that the breaking out of the disease was owing to bad water, uncleanliness and lack of provisions. An insufficiency of coal on the steamer made it necessary to use the trunks of the steerage passengers for fuel to bring her into port.

INJUNCTIONS GRANTED.

The Supreme Court has granted two injunctions against the Rondout and Oswego Railroad, restraining the company from interfering with the road, or from disposing in any way of the property. The charges are that the Directors have been guilty of misconduct.

TWEED'S CASE.

Charles O'Connor says he has very little doubt that the demurrer in the Tweed suit will be overruled.

Jay Gould has not filed with the Sheriff his withdrawal from Tweed's bonds.

Tweed has filed a demand asking that the place of trial of his case be changed from Albany to New York.

MORE IMPLICATIONS.

Peter B. Sweeny was this afternoon served with a legal process on behalf of Miss Mansfield, demanding the surrender of papers in his possession, which are said to implicate him and Tweed in the Erie scheme. It is said that Sweeny has destroyed the papers alluded to.

ALEXIS.

It is said at Quarantine that the real cause of the delay of Prince Alexis' arrival is owing to the fact that, as there is cholera in Russia, it was deemed advisable to take a migratory course and visit Madeira and other southern climates before proceeding to New York.

CUSTOM HOUSE ROBBERIES.

Messrs. Clark & Schultz, importers, of this city, publish a letter calling the attention of the mercantile community to the continued abstraction of goods coming through the Custom House at Middletown, N. Y.

NEW YORK, November 19, 1871.

BOWLING GREEN SAVINGS BANK.

The Sunday Herald says the primary cause of the suspension of the Bowling Green Savings Bank is said to have been the loss of a quarter million dollars in Hannibal & St. Joseph stock, in which the officers and directors are alleged to have speculated with its funds. William Selmes, its Secretary, stated last evening that they would not be able to open the doors soon, if at all. He says the liabilities and assets are each about half a million, and that the bank will be able after a while to meet every obligation. They have ample securities, but have been obliged to bear the odium of connection with the ring for three months, and to raise money had to sell securities at a heavy discount. Mr. Toone is said to have been appointed receiver.

The World says Judge Hogan, who is one of the directors of the bank, said last night that unless there was fraud there could no serious trouble result. If there was fraud, he would not be sorry to see the guilty man strung to a lamp post, and the poor whose hoarded dollars were taken from them would be likely to take the law into their own hands. The Judge never attended a meeting of the board, though nominally an officer. The Secretary and Walter Roche, however, assured him that all was right.

HORRIBLE AFFAIR.

A special from Boston says a man named John G. Clinton, a barber, was arrested at Lynn, Mass., last night, charged with beating his wife in a brutal manner, then pouring kerosene over her and setting her on fire. She was literally roasted to death. The body was still burning when found and presented a sickening sight. There were marks of violence on the head, consisting of two or three cuts, looking as though they had been made with some dull instrument. On the breast were also wounds which appeared to have been caused by something besides flames. The features was rendered unrecognizable, and the hair were burned close to the head, leaving the skull bare and horribly crisped, and the black flesh was dropping from the hands, arms and body.

ANOTHER RUMORED SUSPENSION.

Rumor last evening said that the Yorkville Savings Bank, of which Henry W. Genet is President, had borne a heavy run, that its assets were entirely insufficient, and that a crash was inevitable. The depositors are mainly of the poorer classes. The officers of this institution say there was no run upon it, that its deposits are under $100,000, that its directors are men of wealth, and will be able to make good any deficiencies in the event of such an unlooked for circumstance as insolvency. They repudiate any connection with the ring.

VIADUCT RAILWAY.

The Viaduct Railway Company will be reorganized next Wednesday. Fifteen of the twenty-five directors have resigned, and their successors will be men disconnected with the ring and city government. Commodore Vanderbilt is mentioned as one of the new members. Efforts have been made to have Sweeny remain, but he positively declines. Tweed and Connolly are certainly out. It is believed the plans for building the road are unendangered.

GERMAN REFORMERS.

The German Republicans and Democrats are active in the reform movement. They met at Germania Hall to-day. Sigismund Kaufman, a Republican, was chairman, and Marcus Atterbourg, reform Democrat, Secretary. After speeches from Oswald Ottendorfer, David M. Koehler, and others, it was resolved to form a body representing all the German residents desiring to co-operate, and a committee was appointed to effect an organization.

SUSPENSION DENIED.

The officers of the National Savings Institution, on the corner of Houston street and Broadway, of which John McBride Davidson, the Ring's safe man, is President, deny that it has suspended, and say it will be open on Monday, prepared to pay all demands, and that every deposit is fully secured. Arrangements were made to meet an extraordinary demand. Richard M. Tweed is one of the trustees.

A CHICAGO SUFFERER.

Mrs. Ann McClellan, a Chicago sufferer, applied for lodging at the police station in Astoria last night. She kept a boarding house at the corner of Main and Market streets, in Chicago, where she was in comfortable circumstances, but lost everything by the great fire. She has made her way east in search of friends.

OBERLIN.

Congregational Council.

OBERLIN, O., November 18.—In accordance with a recommendation of the Business Committee adopted in the forenoon, the Council convened in the afternoon at the First Church. A resolution was offered by the Rev. George Magown, in response to an appeal of Rev. Mr. Chamberlain, of Chicago, made in the forenoon for aid in rebuilding the Congregational churches in Chicago, which provided that the members of this Council recommend to the churches which they represent on the fourth Sabbath in December, that they make a united effort to raise one hundred thousand dollars in aid of the suffering churches in Chicago. The resolution met the approval of the members of the Council, and was referred to a committee appointed in the morning to advise what action should be taken by the Council upon the appeal of Mr. Chamberlain.

The amendment made in the forenoon upon the report of the Committee on Congregational Literature was voted on, and lost. The report was adopted.

A report was presented by President J. M. Sturtevant, Chairman of the Committee to whom was referred a paper on the supply of the ministry. The committee recommended the adoption of several resolutions upon the education of young men to the ministry, the support of the American Educational Society, the support of the theological seminaries and congregational colleges, the consecration of children to the ministry and the encouragement of young men to enter the ministry. These resolutions embodied the main points of the paper which had been referred to the committee, and were adopted by the Council.

Rev. Dr. Kitchwell, chairman of the committee which had been appointed by the Council to take into consideration the relations of churches to theological seminaries, presented a report in favor of three resolutions. These resolutions were upon the value of theological seminaries in the training of men for work in home and foreign missions, the duty of churches in support of such seminaries, and the wisdom of establishing and sustaining not a great number of seminaries, but a few judiciously distributed and completely endowed in all respects for their perfect work. The matter of theological seminaries was one of great interest to all the members.

A vote for the adoption of the resolutions was not taken, but the Council adjourned the session until evening. At 3:30, in accordance with a previous announcement, the exercises of laying the corner stone of the Oberlin Seminary were commenced.

The exercises were held in the house, and were opened by prayer by the Rev. Dr. Borrow, and a song in which the whole congregation took part.

President J. H. Fairchild, of Oberlin College, then gave the history, origin, progress and present condition of the Oberlin Theological Seminary, the corner stone of whose prospective building they were about to lay. He said that the Seminary had its origin with the commencement of the college, and had grown up with it; that it had now grown to such dimensions that a new and commodious building was demanded. He gave a description of the proposed building, its cost, locality, and the amount needed to enable them to push it on to an early completion. He said that fifty thousand dollars more are needed for an endowment fund to enable them to increase the faculty by the addition of two more Professors.

Addresses were also made by Rev. W. A. Wollcott, of Cleveland, Gen. O. O. Howard, of Washington, Hon. James Monroe, of Oberlin, Rev. H. R. Butterfield, of Boston, and Rev. W. J. Buddington, of Brooklyn.

The exercises were interspersed with music.

At five o'clock the assembly adjourned to the site of the new building, where the corner stone was laid with appropriate ceremonies, conducted by President J. H. Fairchild and Rev. G. J. Morgan, of Oberlin College.

This ended the exercises, and in the evening, in accordance with a suggestion of the business committee adopted in the forenoon, the session was devoted to prayer for the blessings of Providence upon the Churches and ministers. The evening exercises were conducted by General O. O. Howard, of Washington.

CHICAGO, November 18.—The charred remains of John McDevit, the celebrated billiard player, were this afternoon found under the ruins of the Tribune building. GAMBETTA'S SPEECH.

M. Gambetta made a long speech at St. Quentin last night. His tone was moderate, and the speech has an excellent effect on public opinion. He assured his hearers that no danger at present menaced the existence of the republic, but reforms were necessary to confirm it. The peoble should see that legislation to that end be not kept back too long in the national assembly. The citizens should take a more active and practical interest in political affairs, and also make their influence felt in the government, to give their power its legitimate effects. He advocated the formation of a national Republican party. He set forth in detail a plan of organization, which is based in many respects upon the American system.

AID ASKED.

Gambetta, Louis Blanc and Victor Hugo have issued a card soliciting subscriptions for the relief of the families of Communist prisoners.

INCITING REVOLUTION.

NEW YORK, November 18.—A Paris letter of November 5th states that the spirit of the working classes is becoming somewhat revolutionary. Much of this is said to be due to the new radical journals, in one of which there was published a direct injunction on All Souls Day to those who had lost relatives during the Commune to make a demonstration at one of the public cemeteries. In consequence of this several thousand troops were under arms during the whole day. Trouble among this class may occur at any moment.

CABINET CRISIS.

MADRID, November 18.—The movements of the radical members of the Cortes have resulted in the defeat of the ministry upon a test question, and a cabinet crisis has occurred. The debates at Friday's sitting of the Cortes were intensely exciting, and the session did not break up until seven o'clock this morning. During the discussion upon the proposition to censure the government, brought forward by the advocates of Senor Zorilla, a counter motion was submitted by Senor Ochoa, providing for the granting of entire liberty to religious societies throughout Spain and the suppression of the decrees of the provisional government, of which Senor Zorilla was a member.

Pending this, a motion was made to declare the sitting of the Cortes permanent, and a spirited discussion followed. The government eventually demanded its rejection as a cabinet question, but their opponents had a majority; for upon a division of the house, the motion was found to be adopted by a vote of 173 to 118.

Admiral Malcampo, President of Council of State, and head of the ministry, at once mounted the tribune and read a loyal decree proroguing the sitting of the Cortes without day.

The King to-day summoned to his presence the Presidents of the two houses for consultation as to the grave aspect of political affairs.

They went to examine the two freight trains of this road, seized yesterday at Rolla, Missouri, by the Sheriff and Philips & Co. for the non-payment of taxes amounting to 20,000. Scott, of the Pennsylvania Central, and Mr. Torrence, of the Ohio and Mississippi road, have been in consultation at the Galt House concerning the right of way over the Ohio river bridge at this point. Arrangements were effected this afternoon which allowed the Ohio and Mississippi to cross the bridge on reasonable terms. Mr. Scott left for home this evening.

VIRGINIA AND TENNESSEE.

LYNCHBURG, VA., November 18.—In the United States Court to-day, in the injunction case of Tyson versus the Virginia and Tennessee Railroad Company, Judge Bond delivered an opinion refusing a preliminary injunction, on the ground that the Atlantic, Mississippi and Ohio Company should be made a party to the suit, and granted leave to amend the bill in this respect. Judge Rives delivered an opinion concurring with Judge Bond, in which he said it was clear that the stockholder, a complainant, could not be forced by an act of consolidation to merge his stock, but when proper parties were brought in he could call the Atlantic, Mississippi and Ohio Company to account for its dealing with property of the Virginia and Tennessee company.

CENTRAL NEW YORK.

The Utica Herald says: The interior lake region of the State is just now is the height of its railroad fever. Railroads are projected to be built almost wholly upon town bonds. Local rivalries multiply the schemes beyond the dictates of business prudence. A road is talked about on the west side of Seneca Lake, although one already runs from Canandaigua to Elmira. Work is in progress on a railroad from Geneva to Ithaca, and also on a road from Waterloo and Seneca Falls with identical southern connections, and they must both run upon the narrow strip from five to twelve miles wide, between Seneca and Cayuga lakes, both navigable. At a little distance east of Cayuga Lake runs the Southern Central Railroad, in the same general direction. So many railroads upon so limited a territory cannot promise returns upon the capital. It is not likely that they would all be built if the money had to be furnished by individuals. We cite them only for illustration of a growing danger.

ST. LOUIS.

Libel Suits.

ST. LOUIS, November 19.—Some days ago the Times of this city published an article stating that the wife of a prominent homeopathic physician had been false to her husband, and left him with a young man from the east. Dr. Hartmann, a well known physician, and a somewhat prominent politician of this city, states that he and his wife are the parties referred to in the article, and yesterday a suit was entered in the circuit court in their names against the Times, claiming $50,000 damages for slander.

Dr. Hartmann also entered suit in his own name against the same paper for $20,000 damages for an alleged slander contained in another publication, referring to Hartmann's connection with Emile Sussisky, the late defaulting Treasurer of this city.

THE TOBACCO TRADE.

Prominent tobacco manufacturers of this city had an interview yesterday with Israel Kemball, of the Internal Revenue Bureau at Washington, at which the question of taxation of tobacco was freely discussed. Resolutions were adopted recommending a reduction of tax and a uniform rate; that Congress should protect manufacturers against the sale of leaf tobacco at retail; favoring the abolition of bonded warehouses; that peddlers of tobacco should be licensed and restricted, so as to prevent fraud, that the tax on sales should be revoked, and that all tobacco confiscated by the Government should be destroyed.

SUIT AGAINST A RAILROAD.

A suit was entered yesterday by Geo. D. Humphry and Wm. Hoge against the North Missouri Railroad Company for four hundred thousand dollars said to be due them upon notes.

INDIANA.

Failure of a Mob.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 19.—A mob last night at Brookville, Indiana, forced the jail and attempted to take Cheek, the murderer of his father-in-law, at Lawrenceburg, this State, a year since, therefrom, with the supposed intention of lynching him. Cheek knocked the first man in the cell down, taking his revolver from him and defended himself bravely. Many of the mob were hurt. The jailor in the meantime escaped and rang the fire alarm, bringing the citizens to his aid, whereupon the mob scattered. Many were recognized. Cheek has been granted a new trial, and it is feared his sentence may be light or dismissed.

CINCINNATI, O., November 19.—Later dispatches from Brooksville, Indiana, state that the mob which undertook to take McDonald Cheek, the murderer of Thomas Harrison, from jail, last night, numbered seventy-five to one hundred persons, who hailed from Aurora, Indiana, and vicinity. The attempt was made at 12:30 o'clock.

WEATHER REPORT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18, 1871.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The Civil Service Commissioners, who have been in session during the past week, were engaged in grouping the classification of inferior officers in the Civil Service.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

Hon. John Boyle and Judge McLaughland, the former principal trustee of the estate of the Marquis of Bute, and the latter President of the Great African Steamboat Line, called on the Secretary of the Treasury and other prominent Government officers. Their business here has reference to the establishment of a steamship line between Cardiff, Wales, and New York or Baltimore, and to obtain information in connection with the investment of capital.

THE CROPS.

The agricultural report says the returns indicate a larger production than was expected in October, and promises fully to make good the moderate expectations of July and August. There have been no killing frosts, and the quality is good in all sections. The yield per acre, as indicated by county estimates, is largest in Arkansas.

RESIGNED.

Josiah Given, Deputy Internal Revenue Commissioner, tendered his resignation to-day, to accept the attorneyship to which he has been elected in Iowa.

U. S. ATTORNEY APPOINTED.

The President to-day appointed Horace H. Harrison United States Attorney for the middle district of Tennessee.

REGISTRATION.

The total registration of votes in the District of Columbia shows 12,157 whites and 1,255 blacks.

PERSONAL.

WASHINGTON, November 19, 1871.

THE WEATHER.

The low barometer in Wisconsin will probably extend eastward, with brisk southeast winds from Lake Erie to Illinois and northward, preceded by cloudy weather and possibly rain on the lower lakes; northerly winds and clear weather will prevail on Monday in Mississippi and Texas; cloudy and clearing weather continue in the southern States, excepting Florida; threatening weather with a falling barometer in Florida and on the middle and east Atlantic coasts. Cautionary signals will be continued at Chicago, Milwaukee and Grand Haven.

COTTON CASES.

A large number of cotton cases are before the court of claims, which will soon resume its session. Some depend upon a decision to be rendered by the supreme court on an appeal from the court of claims, the latter having decided against a claimant on the ground that the proclamation of the President went into effect at the time of publication, and not on the day of the date.

TEXAS VOLUNTEER CLAIM.

Mr. Newcomb, Secretary of State of Texas, has been here for several days, presenting a claim for $200,000 advanced by the State for the payment of volunteers called out before the rebellion under authority of the United States Government to defend the frontiers. Further legislation will be required for its settlement.

CLAIM AGAINST SPAIN.

The American-Spanish Commission will meet again on the 1st of December. Several claims were filed, including one of the widow of Charles Speakman, shot at Santiago de Cuba, in June, 1869. The amount asked is thirty thousand dollars.

THE INDIANS.

There is no doubt but that the Pacific coast Congressmen will move an inquiry into the management of Indian affairs, in order to ascertain of the officers whether the peace policy has proved successful.

CINCINNATI.

The Louisville Canal.

CINCINNATI, November 18.—It was expected that the Chamber of Commerce would to-day take action asking Congress for an appropriation of four hundred thousand dollars to finish the Louisville canal and favoring a reduction of tolls, but after a discussion of the question by a number of prominent members, the matter was referred to a special committee, with a view to reconsider the differences of opinion relative to the tolls, some members being in favor of the total abolition of tolls and opposed to the chamber committing itself merely to a reduction.

INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION.

The work of preparing for the Industrial Exposition in 1872 has actively begun. Over seventy thousand dollars as a guarantee fund are now subscribed, and it is expected that the full amount will be raised before the 1st of January. It is the intention that this shall in all respects far surpass anything thus far held here. Among the projects which will doubtless be consummated is one for erecting a thoroughly fire-proof building, in which to collect and safely preserve valuable works of art.

AN EMBEZZLER CAUGHT.

CINCINNATI, November 19.—The chief salesman of Howell, Gano & Co., prominent hardware dealers here, has been discovered practicing a system of embezzlement upon the firm, which has extended through a number of years, and which aggregates about thirteen thousand dollars. The course pursued was to ship goods to an innocent customer in Chicago, who was made to believe that getting them through the salesman he was procuring them cheaper. The goods thus shipped were never entered on the firm's books. The offender was considered above suspicion. When confronted by his accusers he confessed, and made arrangements by which the larger part of the amount will be restored to the firm, his friends agreeing to make up the deficit.

BANQUET TO GEN. WEITZEL.

A committee to arrange for a banquet to General Weitzel, as a recognition of his faithful services in connection with the Louisville canal, has been appointed, consisting of A. T. Goshorn, Charles W. Rowland, Richard Smith, Capt. Eckert August Wessel, S. F. Covington and T. R. Biggs. The chairman left for Louisville yesterday to confer with General Weitzel relative to the time.

CHARGES AGAINST DETECTIVES.

Mayor Davis has ordered an investigation into the conduct of some of his detectives, against whom serious charges were made yesterday at a meeting of citizens who have recently been victims of burglars. The resolutions yesterday were damaging to the detectives.

TURNERS' FESTIVAL.

The Turners of this city held their annual festival to-day. After parading through the streets, they spent the remainder of the day in Wood Park.

GAIL HAMILTON concludes in an article The Independent on a woman's meeting, with a reference to the fact that, although the tyrant man had been rigorously excluded, he was called in again to put out a little dog which disturbed the proceedings, and adds: "That is always the way. Women will not be true to themselves. They will keep up a mighty fusillade on parade days; but they will not stand by their guns at a pinch. They turn man out of their halls with beat of drums; but at the first bark they rush to bring him in again. We have our woman candidate all nominated for the Presidency; but, just as we are on the eve of going to Eton to vote for Mistress Anne Page, it turns out suddenly that she is a great lubberly boy. When Greek meets Greek, I prefer Ulysses the silent, fighting it out on his own line, to Demosthenes the Eloquent, hiding under a woman's gown."

GOOD judges of malt liquors say that Pier, Dannals & Co.'s bottled ales and porter are not only much cheaper, but also much better than the numerous brands of imported English ale and porter, sold in American markets.

ALEXIS.

Arrival at New York.

NAVAL RECEPTION.

President Grant Notified.

THE DUKE'S APPEARANCE.

NEW YORK, November 19, 1871.

ARRIVAL OF ALEXIS.

Early this morning the Russian frigate Svetlana arrived safely off the light ship with Grand Duke Alexis on board. She experienced strong head-winds and heavy seas nearly the whole passage. The officer on duty made immediate inquiry if other vessels of the Russian fleet had yet reached port, and when informed that they had, immediately communicated the intelligence to those on board the Svetlana. A loud cheer soon testified that the news of the safety of their companions had reached the ears of the crew of the flagship.

The reception of Grand Duke Alexis will take place to-morrow, unless the weather is stormy.

We are indebted to the Tribune for the following: The Russian frigate Svetlana entered the lower bay at noon, attended by the revenue cutter Northerner. Approaching the American squadron at Horseshoe, she fired a national salute of twenty-one guns, which was quickly responded to by the Congress, Severn, Iroquois and Kansas, each vessel dipping her colors as she passed to her anchorage. The Grand Duke appeared on deck and bowed repeatedly to the salutes of the American officers. Admiral Rowan was received with all honors on the Svetlana. The frigate met a storm off Hatteras on the 10th instant, which lasted until Friday night, when an observation showed her to be forty miles off Cape May. A pilot was taken at four o'clock Saturday afternoon off Barnegat. The vessel received no damage and did not ship a sea. Alexis was dressed in the simple uniform of a Lieutenant. He is tall, strongly built, and has the air of a gentleman; clear complexion, light hair and whiskers, blue eyes, speaks English quite fluently, but appears to prefer the French.

The Russian Minister, Catacazy, passed the afternoon on the frigate as the guest of the Duke.

Collector Murphy, Henry Clews and other gentlmen will proceed to the frigate at 9 A. M. to-morrow in the revenue cutter. The Grand Duke will be serenaded to-morrow evening by the Ninth Regiment band.

QUARANTINE INSPECTIONS.

The Russian clipper Abreck came to the upper quarantine yesterday. The Svetlana is to be promptly inspected by the health officers.

NEW ORLEANS.

Laying of Corner Stones.

NEW ORLEANS, November 19.—The corner stone of the Temple of Sinai, corner of Wilton walk and Carondolet street, was laid to-day with imposing ceremonies, elegant music by Rev. H. S. Jacobs, and an introductory address by Rev. M. Frank, a priest of the temple. Rev. J. K. Gotheim, of the Temple Emanuel, of New York, delivered an eloquent and impressive oration, eliciting frequent applause. There was also an address by Rev. J. L. Leucht. The corner stone was laid by the Grand Master of Masons, M. Todd, assisted by the Grand Lodge and the brethren, with the usual ceremonies.

The ceremonies of laying the corner stone of St. Stephens Church, on Napoleon avenue, Sixth district, took place to-day. There was an address by Rev. Bishop Quintin. Archbishop Perche took part in the ceremonies.

A Russian Enterprise.

A projected canal to connect the Black Sea with the Caspian is at present attracting great attention in St. Petersburg. The project has for many years been the subject of discussion among Russian engineers, but has hitherto been considered impracticable. Recently, however, Captain Blum, of the Russian topographical engineers, having made extensive explorations, has presented a report to the Government, enthusiastically favoring the construction of this important commercial and strategical work. All the necessary measurements and calculations have been made, and the canal is located in the valley of Manitch, supposed by geologists to have formerly united the two seas. The projected route of this canal, which passes through several lakes and runs for fifty miles alongside the river Don, is four hundred and fifty miles long, and the work, it is calculated, will cost fifty-five million dollars, and take six years for its completion.

ELECTION, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1871

FOR MAYOR—R. W. MORGAN.
FOR TREASURER—C. L. MAGEE.
FOR CONTROLLER—R. J. McGOWAN.

NEW YORKERS want smoking cars, either run separately, or attached to the regular street cars. Why not?

WE THANK the Post for its genial humor; we enjoyed it. It was the cleverest attempt at wit that we have seen for a long time. Give us more of it. "It is better to laugh than be sighing."

SEEING Tweed and Ingersoll and the rest filling their pockets with their ill gotten gains, converting their property of various kinds into portable treasure and living sumptuously, is, altogether, calculated to make the voters of New York think that, after all, to the vanquished belong the spoils.

THE FIRST barge load of coal that reached Cincinnati on the recent rise was offered for sale at sixteen cents. It was Kanawha coal, and would not even bring that price. Last week it would have found ready purchasers at twenty-five cents per bushel. Coal by the wagon load has been selling at Cincinnati and Louisville during the past week or two at thirty-five and forty cents per bushel—it is now worth fifteen to twenty. The rise in the Ohio river has made the difference.

LONDON is very full of small-pox and so are New York and Philadelphia and a dozen smaller places, all of which, however, cannot make it right that the Jamestown, N. Y. Journal should entertain its readers with an editorial description of Pittsburgh, with pest flags flying and streets barricaded. Although we have had a good deal of the terrible disease, we have not yet gotten to the epidemic or pestilence stage, and barricaded streets are mere creatures of a disordered Jamestown brain.

AND NOW the story is that a number of the high toned, aristocratic Southern gentlemen, who disapprove of the vulgar Ku Klux have formed a secret society, the object of which is to export negro ruffians and murderers, and send them into the Northern States, instructed to do their worst when they get there. Doubtless the same gentlemen were partners to that other high toned plan, conceived during the war, of buying up infected clothing in pest ridden districts and distributing it in northern cities. We presume, too, that it is all to be blamed on President Grant.

IF DR. LIVINGSTONE ever returns—and who doubts that he will? it is to be hoped that his constitution will not be so completely undermined as to prevent his writing a book to tell us what he learned during the many years in which he has been slowly making his way to Ujiji. His perseverance in this endeavor has been admirable. Most men would have come to the conclusion that they did not want to see Ujiji after all, and would have gone some other place, but the Doctor was not of that kind, and the latest news, although coming indirectly, is very explicit, and still the great traveler is persevetingly advancing on Ujiji.

MRS. CADY STANTON says that it is admitted that President Grant is not a gentleman, and as Mrs. Stanton is, herself, very gentlemanly we should like to know what she thinks constitutes a gentleman. President Grant, being a graduate of West Point has received the best education procurable in the land; as a soldier he was brave, as an officer he achieved a higher rank, greater reputation and more substantial success than any other in our armies, and as a man he has attained the most exalted position in the gift of the people. In appearance he is modest, in dress unassuming, in manners quiet, and he is conspicuous for a silence and stoicism which is alike the mark of the most high-bred English gentleman and the Indian brave. What other attributes does the gentlemanly madame require for her gentleman?

THE Post, we are sorry to say, is absolutely appalled at our ideas. We had no intention of doing this to the Post, and did not know that we had done it until the Post said so. And this is what is the matter: in a poem (?) of Mr. George Alfred Townsend's, which we recently laughed at, because it was ridiculous, this line occurred:

"Once more a fool fired the Ephesian doom."

And this we mentioned as "mysterious." And we laughed at the curious combination which was effected by the author, of dozing cows, and Ephesian dooms, and meteoric sparks, and Noah's arks. But the Post sees nothing therein to laugh at, it says it is "absolutely appalled" at us and proceeds to enlighten us thus:

"For the benefit of our cotemporary, we will say that the awful mystery of the "Ephesian doome" (doom as he incorrectly spells it) is really no mystery at all. George Alfred only referred to the burning of the temple of Diana at Ephesus by an ambitious youth anxious for public notoriety."

The kindness of our appalled neighbor is overpowering, we are glad to have his word for it that the mystery is no mystery, even though he don't say why, and we would be more glad if he would tell us why he quotes "Ephesian doome" a phrase which is certainly original with the Post, having one more "e" in it than Townsend's absurd phraise in the Chicago Tribune, and bearing but a slight resemblance to Colly Cibber's famous lines:

"The aspiring youth who fired the Ephesian dome, Outlives in fame the pious fool that raised it."

PROTECTION TO BRAIN LABOR.

Men of literary genius have ever sought for patrons to bring them into public notice, and secure for their intellectual productions a renumerative sale and extensive circulation. Without being slavish in his devotions or adulatory in his compliments, Horace rejoiced in the patronage of Mæcenas who was of royal ancestry, and could trace his lineage to the kings of Etruria. Lord Macaulay informs us that in the times of Charles II., the recompense obtained by the authors of literary works was "so small that they were under the necessity of eking out their incomes by levying contributions on the great. Every rich and good-natured lord was pestered by authors with a mendicancy so importunate, and a flattery so abject as may in our time seem incredible. The patron to whom a work was inscribed was expected to reward the writer with a purse of gold. The fee paid for the dedication of a book was often much larger than the sum which any book-seller would give for the copyright. Books were often printed then only that they might be dedicated. This traffic in praise completed the degradation of the literary character. Adulation pushed to the verge, sometimes of nonsense, and sometimes of impiety, was not thought to disgrace a poet. Independence, veracity, self respect, were things not expected by the world from him. In truth, he was in morals something between a pander and a beggar."

The age in which men of wealth, eminence and distinction paid for dedicatory honors has now almost, if not altogether passed away. There are few who are willing to pay for the empty honor of having a work, however meritorious, inscribed to them. The privilege when granted, is now, in most cases, a source of expense rather than remuneration to an author. Book-writers seek for a more extensive patronage than any individual, however rich or lordly, can secure for them. A compensating patronage can only be found in the reading public, and to it authors and publishers have now to look for a reward for the expense and labor incurred in issuing literary productions. Hence they resort to every method, which experience in their business can dictate, to protect themselves in the enjoyment of the exclusive profits of their respective labors.

We have been treated recently in the English papers to one of those occasional discussions on international copyright, which have hitherto proved so barren of results. And judging from the spirit in which the discussion has been conducted, we are of the opinion that nothing practical or satisfactory will be arrived at soon. Those who have figured in the columns of the English papers on the subject have displayed anything but a becoming or fraternal spirit. American publishers have been denounced as "literary pirates," who seek to enrich themselves at the expense of the intellectual toil of British authors. It is true that Justin McCarthy and some others have stood up for the defence of American publishers, and complimented them in strong terms for the generous liberality which they have shown to English authors in paying them handsomely for their labors, even when, in the absence of an international copyright, they were under no legal obligation to do so. Mr. McCarthy, referring to the payment of English authors by American book manufacturers, says: "There are not many examples, probably, in human affairs of men thus systematically paying, as a trade practice, money which no law of their country binds them to pay."

William H. Appleton, Esq., of the extensive and enterprising publishing firm of D. Appleton & Co., New York, arriving in London during the progress and in the heat of the international copyright discussion, addressed a letter to the Times, which is equally remarkable for the purity and terseness of its style and the trenchant blows it deals to English avarice and cupidity. Mr. Appleton demonstrates the fact, that the substantial and honorable house which he represents, as well as other publishing establishments in the United States, has been endeavoring "for years to establish direct relations with English authors, so that they may get the entire cis-Atlantic 'profits of authorship,' and that it has paid them 'on substantially the same footing' as American authors. 'We have not waited,' says he, "for an International Copyright law, but have practically anticipated it and given your authors its benefits," the same as if it were in existence. So far as the Appletons could make arrangements with English authors, they have been paid according to the same standard as American authors. Indeed, they have originated a scheme within the last few months for the benefit of an increased number of English authors, "and on terms more advantageous than any copyright can ever secure."

We are clearly convinced that a man is justly entitled to a remuneration for his labors, whether by these he may sweat his brain or his brow. The laborer is worthy of his hire whether his labor be mental or manual, and no honest man will withhold from either a just compensation. Book-writing is as exhaustive of the energies of the human constitution as is the daily labor of the operative. The Wise man says, "Of making many books there is no end; and much study is a weariness of the flesh."

If British authors have not been compensated by American readers for the enjoyment they have had and the instruction they have derived from perusing the creations of their genius, the fault does not lie, we think, with us. We have not, at present, an opportunity of consulting the Crampton-Everett international treaty, which was drawn up in February, 1854, by the Minister Plenipotentiary of Great Britain, then resident at Washington, and our then Secretary of State, and which was rejected by the Senate, but we rely with confidence on the declaration of Mr. W. H. Appleton, in the London Times, that the American people and American publishers have never rejected an author's international copyright, proposed by England. We infer from this declaration that the treaty drawn up by John James Crampton and Edward Everett, was a publisher's, and not an author's treaty. It was to promote the interests of the book manufacturer, and not of the book-writer. These are two very different things. We are under no moral, or legal obligation to protect the interests of the British publisher, who wishes to enjoy the blessings of free trade in America as well as in England by securing the exclusive right to himself to sell English books in the United States. One of the most rabid free trade papers in this country, referring to this subject a few days since, made use of the following language: "But it is not our business to secure the foreign manufacturer, to whom we owe nothing at all unless we choose to buy his editions, a monopoly of our market;" and yet by abolishing the tariff it would secure the monopoly of our market to the British ironmaster. The doctrine, unwarily pronounced it may be, is sound. We are under no obligation, it is not our business to protect the British or other foreign manfacturer of any article of commerce at the expense of our own. We do not think we should give ourselves any trouble to protect the publisher of Paternoster Row, to the detriment of at least as honorable and enterprising a brother in Broadway. But we would favor a treaty by which the registration of a book at Stationers' Hall, or in the office of the Librarian of Congress, would secure the same advantage to an English or American author, that a registration in the Patent office of London or Washington, would secure to the patentee of a mechanical invention.

But on the question of copyright the English people are not agreed among themselves. Decisions given on the subject by one court have been reversed by another. It was held by Lord Abinger in 1835, in the case of De Almaine vs. Boosey, that a foreigner might take out a copyright at Stationers' Hall. But although this decision was re-affirmed by Vice-Chancellor Shadwell, in the case of Bentley vs. Foster, the Court of Exchequer decided in 1845, in Chappell vs. Purday, that no foreigner residing in another country, nor his assignee in England, could have a copyright in Great Britain. But three years afterwards the Court of Common Pleas gave a decision adverse to this, which was affirmed by the Court of Queen's Bench in the case of Boosey vs. Davidson. In 1851, the Court of Error, which was composed of the Judges of the Queen's Bench and Common Pleas, overruled the decision given in the case of Boosey vs. Purday, by the Court of Exchequer, in which it was decided that a foreign author who has his residence in another country "was not an author within the meaning of the statutes, which were intended for the encouragement of British talent and industry; and that a foreigner by sending to, and first publishing his work in Great Britain, acquired no copyright." An appeal was taken from the decision of the court of Error to the House of Lords, who, after speeches by the Lord Chancellor, Lord Brougham and Lord St. Leonards, decided in May 1854, that no foreigner, nor his assignee, can hold a copyright in England, unless he has his residence in that country.

In this view of the matter, now that the question is no longer sneeringly asked in England, "Who reads an American book?" an international copyright would inure greatly to the benefit of American authors. For it has been shown in the recent discussion that "literary piracy" is carried on to a greater extent by English than it is by American publishers.

"HONEST BEN WADE."

His Opinion of a Protective Tariff in the Next Congress and the Coming Nomination.

Tuesday evening Mr. Benjamin F. Wade, ex-Senator from Ohio and ex-Vice President of the United States, was stopping at the Astor House, and was interviewed by the New York Herald reporter. We present his views on

THE TARIFF:

Reporter—As you are just from Washington, Senator, I presume you can foreshadow something with reference to the formation of Congressional committees. Will they be likely to favor a high tariff?

Senator—Undoubtedly they will. There is a popular impression with you in the East that tariffs are unpopular in the West. They are not. When we have placed ourselves there squarely in favor of tariff, at just those times we have received our greatest majorities, although the Chicago Tribune and a few leaders have opposed us in it. I am in favor of such an arrangement of the tariff as will enable us to pay off at least fifty millions per annum, and as much more as we can without being too burdensome. The Republican party is stronger to-day in the West than it ever was, and this is because it is in favor of a tariff and preserving the national integrity.

AND GRANT'S RENOMINATION.

Reporter—Will President Grant be renominated?

Senator—Certainly he will. He never was as strong as he is to-day, and, I think, he will be selected to a second term by as large a proportionate majority as President Monroe after the war of 1812. Then the country approved his course and sought quietude, and was not willing to risk a change, and so it is now with Grant. The country wishes to be quiet, is not willing to risk a change, will move along in its present beaten channels, pay its debts and emerge from all of our troubles with its power undiminished and its credit abroad the best of any nation in the world.

Reporter—Do you believe there will be any change in the Cabinet before the coming Presidential election?

Senator—I do not know positively anything about it. I believe Mr. Fish would be glad to retire, but I think the President's anxiety for him to remain will be paramount. I saw the President but a short time, and did not converse with him on this subject. There were but few Congressmen in Washington, and as all the hotels were being repaired I could hardly find a place to sleep, and was glad to get away when my business was finished.

After being entertained very agreeably for some time by the ex Vice-President upon social topics of minor importance the reporter bade him good night and retired.

The Next Presidency.

[From the Worcester (Mass.) Spy.]

The Springfield Republican begins a discussion of the next Republican nomination for the presidency. It maintains that Gen. Grant should not be renominated, and gives a list of prominent men from which his successor can be successfully chosen. It says: "Of the President's friends for instance, whose leadership would remove all pretexts for division and opposition, there are Colfax, and Boutwell, and Gen. Hawley of equally good Republicans, who have more or less separated in personal sympathies from the administration, are Mr. Sumner and Mr. Adams, of Massachusetts; Horace Greeley, Gen Cox, of Ohio; Senator Trumbull and Judge Davis, of Illinois; Gratz Brown, of Missouri, and Gov. Curtin, of Pennsylvania."

There are three or four capable men among those here named; but the list as a whole is not attractive. Our smiling friend, Mr. Colfax, is good as far as he goes, but he is not equal to the highest style of statesmanship; he is not strong enough for it in any respect. As for Greeley, he is Horace Greeley, and this is enough to say of him at present. If anybody can tell what General Cox would do as President, we should like to hear it. We are not able to see that he is a strong, trustworthy man, or that he is likely to get much beyond dilettantism in statesmanship. Gov. Curtin is—well, does the editor of the Republican actually know much of Gov. Curtin? It is our opinion that he will not get the nomination. Gratz Brown's political record in Missouri for some time past does not attract us to support him, for it does not allow us to feel much confidence in his judgment; and Judge Davis is still less acceptable, on account of his political record and his general unfitness to undertake the duties of President at the present time. It is amusing to hear him named as "one of those good Republicans who have more or less separated in personal sympathies from the administration." The truth is, he is one of those bad Republicans who went into the Democratic party through the slough of Andy Johnsonism.

It was understood that private notice had been given that certain journals (among others the New York Tribune) would come out strongly against the renomination of General Grant, after the November elections. When they have made up their issue against him distinctly, we shall know better what to think of their opposition. Meanwhile, we do not see how they can contrive any issue of this kind which will have any influence with the people. In Missouri, the Gratz Brown Republicans "separated in sympathy with the administration," because the President would not allow the influence of his administration to be used in aid of their conspiracy to break down the Republican party in that State by means of a league with the Democratic party. He was right; and we don't believe they will be in a hurry to invite the Republican party of the country to discuss the actual cause of their complaint.

If those who oppose the renomination of Gen. Grant, could bring forward a candidate qualified for the office, in mind, character and political knowledge, and entirely faultless in all respects, they would doubtless get a hearing and might carry their point. We remember that there was a very active and earnest movement to prevent the renomination of Abraham Lincoln; but it failed miserably, because it lacked a substantial basis; and yet it seemed to many good Republicans that Mr. Lincoln's administration had not been entirely faultless. We wait to see what issue will be made up for popular use against Gen. Grant. Independent journalism is an excellent thing; but it is not always identical with reckless criticism, and to realize it, there must be independence of prejudice, egotistical ambition and special aims which disregard the general interest, as well as independence of government favor and all other sinister influences.

Annus Mirabilis.

John Dryden, of whose fame as a lyric and satiric poet England has just cause to be proud, once wrote a poem, called the "Annus Mirabilis," in which he celebrated the events of the "wonderful year" 1666, during which the great fire of London occurred and the Duke of York gained his barren victory over the Dutch. If the events of 1666 were worthy of such a famous poet, what do those of 1871 deserve? The great fire of London did not compare with the one in Chicago, and besides this, 1871 has witnessed the greatest forest fires ever known, battles before which the Duke of York's exploit becomes insignificant, terrible famine and pestilence in Persia, cholera all over the East, extending as far west as Constantinople, earthquakes which have submerged islands in mid-ocean, hurricanes, and many other wonderful events. Truly, it has been an "Annus Mirabilis," and to mourn and celebrate its sad and wonderful events is a task well worthy of a poet with even greater genius than Dryden, if any such now live or shall appear in the not too distant future.

A New Railway Precaution.

A Michigan railroad company has attached to thirty-four of its locomotives a new style of alarm bell. The bell is so attached that when the engine goes the bell rings, being struck by the hammer once at each revolution of the driving wheels. Being placed directly in front of the boiler, the sound of the bell is seldom heard by the engineer or fireman, and cannot be heard on the train, consequently it is no annoyance to passengers, while it is claimed its position causes the sound to be thrown forward, and conducted by the earth and the railroad track or rails, so that it can be heard a considerable distance in advance of the train, thus giving timely warning. The General Superintendent of the road thinks some recent accidents would have been certainly prevented by the use of this invention.

THE AGRICULTURAL GRANT.

BY GIL PIERCE.

My summer rambles take me through
Some quaint and some neglected places,
Amongst the men with brawny arms
And ruddy faces.

And such a one I met last night,
At county fairs the constant winner;
His face was brown, his hands were hard,
His name was Skinner.

Thus spake the agricultural man,
While sweat upon his forehead glistened,
And I sat calmly on the fence
And smoked and listened:

"Some say that Grant ain't jest the man
To plow the corn and tern the stubble.
But, raly, I can't exactly see
What makes the trouble.

"He don't go lecturin', to be sure,
About the cure to wheat when freezing;
But, gosh! the way his crops come in,
Beats thundr'n-lightning.

"He hain't writ books to tell ye how
To pick out punkin seeds that's holler,
But, mind you, when his corn's 'laid by,'
He plows his foller.

"We're cu'rus critters—allers quick
To praise or blame a man in station;
We'd prob'ly show a heap more sense
By moderation.

"Now Grant don' know 'bout plowing deep,
Or drainin', either that I know on,
But you jest bet the patch he drags
Will do to sow on.

"And look, too, at his garden truck
It seems to me, by thunderation,
That he has raised the biggest beats
In all creation.

"And when he takes his little scythe,
And round about his person swings it,
As sure's you're born, he strikes for grain,
And allers brings it.

"'It's luck!' well, mebbe 'tis, you know,
I won't say 'tis, nor won't deny it,
But you let some of your great men
Jest try it.

"It may be luck—it may be fate;
Sometimes I ask myself 'what wuz it?'
The only thing I know is, that
The critter duz it.

"The Britishers are paying up;
The rebs have well nigh quit conniving;
Our debt is growing less and less,
And things is thriving.

"The Injun smokes his pipe in peace;
The nigger sings his loud hosanner,
And, as the boys say down in town,
'That's what ails Hanner.'

"And so I've 'bout made up my mind
That things can't easily be mended;
That, taken all in all, the farm
The farm is durn well 'tended.

"'Shake!' Wal, I don't care if I do;
But, stranger, here is what the rule is:
When any chap shakes hands on that,
He drinks to Ulise.

"There ain't no licker on the farm,
But here is beer, and there is no cider;
Just take your choice, and then git down
And stand beside her."

I named the cider, then got down,
And with the farmer took my station;
And then and there we both indorsed
The Administration.

Who Should Not Smoke.

"Is smoking injurious?" This is an every-day question apt to be put by patients to their doctors. Like most broad questions of the kind, it involves far too many considerations to admit of being answered by a plain yes or no. A medical man, Dr. E. B. Gray, who has long been a moderate smoker, and watches the effects of the habit on himself and others, here offers what he belives to be the true answer of the question.

First of all, there must be an understanding about the quality of the tobacco to be smoked. Bad, i. e., rank, quickly intoxicating and prostrating tobacco (certain kinds of shag and cavendish, for instance), must always be injurious. Few can smoke then at all—none habitually, at least—with impunity. So, too, with regard to quantity; even good tobacco smoked to excess will, to a certainty, be injurious to the smoker, sooner or later, in some way or another. Of the various evil effects of excessive smoking, more will be said presently.

Next, as to smokers. There are people to whom any tobacco, however smoked, is simply poison, causing, even in small doses, vomiting, pallor, and alarming prostration. Such people never get seasoned to its effects, even after repeated trials, and if they are wise they will forever let it alone. They will display still further wisdom by not presuming to make laws for others who have not the same idiosyncrasy.

No one can enjoy smoking or smoke with impunity when out of health. The phrase "out of health," is definite enough to frame a general rule. At the same time, it is useful to know what, if any, are the particular disorders and conditions of health in which tobacco does special harm. As far as the writer's knowledge goes, these have never been specified by medical writers as clearly as is desirable.

To begin, a man with a bad appetite will, if he smoke, most assuredly eat still less—a noteworthy fact for smokers or others recovering from a wasting illness or "off their feed" from whatever cause. This effect of tobacco, by the way, while an evil to a sick man, who cannot eat enough, becomes a boon to the starved man, who cannot get enough to eat; and ample illustration of this was furnished among the French and German soldiers in the recent war. Again, no man should smoke who has a dirty tongue, a bad taste in his mouth, or a weak or disordered digestion. In any such case he cannot relish his tobacco. It should be a golden rule with smokers, that the pipe or cigar which is not smoked with relish had better not be smoked at all. Indigestion in every shape is aggravated by smoking, but most especially that form of it commonly known as atonic and accompanied with flatulence. Diarrhœa, as a rule, is made worse by smoking.

One of the commonest and earliest effects of excessive or untimely smoking is to make the hand shake. This gives the clue to another class of persons, who ought not to smoke—persons, namely, who have weak, unsteady nerves, and suffer from giddiness, confusion of sight, tremulous hands, tendency to stammer, or any such symptoms. And if tobacco does harm in mere functional weakness, still less allowable is it in actual organic disease of the nervous system; as, for instance, where there exists any degree of paralysis or other sign of degenerative change in the brain or spinal cord. The improper use of tobacco does beyond question somehow interfere with due nutrition of nerve substance. An illustration of this, familiar to oculists and medical men, is the so-called tobacco-amourosis, a failure of vision occuring in excessive smokers from mal-nutrition of the retina. Another class of persons who ought not to smoke are those who have weak or unsteady circulation, and complain of such troubles as palpitation, cardiac pain, intermittent pulse, habitually cold hands and feet, or chronic languor.

Lastly, there is reason for believing that the habitual use of tobacco is likely to retard the due growth and development of the body. If so, no one should become a smoker till he is well past the period of puberty. Boys, moreover, have no excuse for smoking, for they are spared the hard wear and tear of adult life.

Now after eliminating those who from idiosyncrasy cannot, and those who, from bodily ailment or from tender years should not smoke, there will still always be a large residuum of happy folks who can smoke, enjoy smoke, and are indeed the better for it. There are those who use tobacco without abusing it—use it, that is to say, in moderate quantity, in due season, and honestly for the sake of the comfort which it gives them—a comfort every bit as legitimate as that which drinkers of tea, coffee or wine extract in each case from their favorite beverage.

Curiosities of Memory.

John Kemble used to say that he could learn a whole number of the Morning Post in four days, and General Christie made a similar assertion; but it is not known how far either of them verified this statement. Robert Dillon could repeat in the morning six columns of a newspaper he had read over night. During the repeal debates in the House of Commons, thirty-seven years ago, one of the members wrote out his speech, sent it to the newspapers, and repeated it to the house in the evening; it was found to be the same, verbatim, as that which he had written out. John Fuller, a land agent in Norfolk, could remember every word of a sermon, and write it out correctly after going home; this was tested by comparing his written account with the clergyman's manuscript. Scaliger could repeat a hundred verses or more after hearing them read a single time. Seneca could repeat two thousand words on hearing them once. Magliabecchi, who had a prodigious memory, was once put to a severe test. A gentleman lent him a manuscript, which was read and returned. The owner, some time afterward, pretending he had lost it, begged Magliabecchi to write out as much as he could remember; whereupon the latter, wrote out the whole essay. Cyrus, if some of the old historians are to be credited, could remember the the name of every soldier in his immense army. There was a Corsican boy who could rehearse forty thousand words, whether sense or nonsense, as they were dictated, and then repeat them in the reversed order, without making a single mistake. A physician of Massachusetts, about half a century ago, could repeat the whole of "Paradise Lost" without mistake, although he had not read it for twenty years. Euler, the great mathematician, when he became blind, could repeat the whole of Virgil's "Æneid," and could remember the first line and the last line on every page of the particular edition which he had been accustomed to read before he became blind.

One kind of retentive memory may be considered as the result of sheer hard work, a determination toward one particular achievement, without reference either to cultivation or to memory on other subjects. This is frequently shown by persons in humble life in regard to the Bible. An old beggar man at Stirling, known some forty years ago as Blind Aleck, afforded an instance of this. He knew the whole of the Bible by heart; insomuch that, if a sentence were read to him, he could name book, chapter, and verse; or, if the book, chapter and verse were named, he could give the exact words. A gentleman, to test him, repeated a verse, purposely making one verbal inaccuracy; Aleck hesitated, named the place where the passage is to be found, but at the same time pointed out the verbal error. The same gentleman asked him to repeat the ninetieth verse of the seventh chapter of the book of Numbers. Aleck almost instantly replied, "There is no such verse; that chapter has only eighty-nine verses."

ARREST DECAY.

When a plant or a tree begins to decay it must needs die. It cannot be revitalized. But it is not so with human beings. A human ruin can be repaired, strengthened, restored, though a brown leaf or a withered blade of grass can never be made green again. In the autumn of life, or even in its winter, when nature seems to be giving way under the pressure of years, it is still prossible to retard the progress of decay, and to lend to age more than its wonted vigor. As a means of promoting this object Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is unquestionably the most potent of all restoratives. It will not make the old young, but it will prevent, lessen, or soothe the infirmities which are the usual accompaniments of the decline of life. For debility and a lack of nervous power, from whatever cause arising, it is the medicine that of all others before the world, best deserves the name of a specific. In purity, in invigorating properties, in its adaptation to weak stomachs and feeble organizations, it has no competitor among the tonics of the pharmacopœia, nor among proprietory remedies. Besides its strengthening principle, it possesses alterative and regulating properties of the highest order, and as an anti-billious medicine is far preferable to any of the preparations containing mercury. Time has shown that for physical decay, nervous debility, dyspepsia, billous disorders, and intermittent fever, Hostetter's Bitter's is a remedy without a rival. This is the season of the fall of the leaf; let it remind the old, the feeble, the sickly, to invigorate and regulate their systems with this great vegetable tonic and alterative.

CONVERSION

U.S. Five-Twenty Bonds

Holders of Five-Twenties of the issue of 1862, which, under the recent announcement of the Secretary of the Treasury, will be paid off in December next, have special and immediate reason to consider the question of conversion, unless they wish to receive coin for their Five Twenties, or exchange them at par for bonds of the new issue, bearing an average rate of 4½ per cent. We invite the attention of investors to RELIABLE HOME SECURITIES, which we are offering for sale, paying from SEVEN TO EIGHT PER CENT. interest.

Finance and Trade.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, November 18, 1871.

Money continues active, and the decline in loanable rates is hardly to be remarked. There is perhaps more disposition to let out money upon bond or stock collateral at less interest than earlier in the week, but the improvement as to commercial paper is yet scarcely noticeable. Our eastern advices still report money comparatively abundant at reasonable figures upon call loans, but for mercantile paper, or time loans on approved collaterals (Government or Railway Bonds) scarce and high.

Dealings in local securities light, and prices in the main fairly steady.

The Philadelphia market shows some activity in Reading, Penna. Central and Camden & Amboy. The last named stock has advanced steadily since the confirmation of the lease to the Penna. Central, and is selling at 134½@135. The holders of Cleveland & Pittsburgh are sanguine that it will sell at the same figures immediately after the vote of the stockholders is made confirming a lease to the same parties upon substantially the same terms. The vote is to be taken on Tuesday next, the 21st of November.

Government Bonds have been active and higher for a few days past, and are now above par, in gold. The foreign demand is said to be growing in volume, and the rapid absorption of the new loan at 5 per cent will pave the way for the 4½ per cents.

The Railway list in New York was weaker most of the day, but improved after the announcement of a favorable Bank Statement.

NEW YORK November 18, 1871.

The gold market was dull to-day, the price being 111. Loans were from 1 to 3 per cent. for carrying. Daily clearances $33,750,000. Money was easy throughout the day at 5 to 6 per cent. on call, with exceptional loans at 3 to 4 later in the day.

The Bank statement is favorable, and shows an increase in reserve of nearly two millions. The following are the changes for the week:

Loans, increase	$1,531,800.
Specie, increase	2,240,800.
Legal tenders, increase	719,200.
Deposits, increase	4,911,500.
Circulation, decrease	45,800.

Governments have been firm all day. State bonds were not very active. Stocks have been rather dull, except Union Pacific, Western Union and Ohio. Reading has also been strong. The market closed dull. The removal of the office of the Hannibal & St. Joseph road from Boston to this city will be made early next week. All the new directors are New York men.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, November 18, 1871.

ASHES—Common Soda ash, 4 cts; refined do, 4⅛@4½; Pearls, 9¾; Pots, 7½; Nitrate Soda, 4½@4¾.

APPLE BUTTER—Sales of prime to choice at 60@65 cts; fair to medium 50@55.

APPLES—The market continues sluggish with a supply considerably in excess of present requirements and prices are weak, particularly for common and medium grades, in bad order, of which the arrivals recently have largely consisted. Prime winter fruit, however, is held pretty firmly at full prices. We continue to quote at $1@2 per bbl for inferior to fair and $2.50@3 for good to prime.

BUTTER—There is an active demand for the better grades and the supply of this kind is light; we advance our quotations to 23@25 for prime to choice and 18@22 for fair to medium. Common butter continues dull and may be quoted nominally at 10@12 cts.

BROOM CORN—Is quoted steady at 8@11 cts, according to quality.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Is scarce and in demand; small sales, in store, at $4.25@4.50.

BEANS—Sales of fair to prime at $2@2.50 per bushel and choice at $2.75. Receipts continue to increase.

BEESWAX—Quoted at 30@33c.

CARBON OIL—Is weak and lower; we reduce our quotations to 21@21¼ for standard brands, in car load lots—usual advance for small lots.

CORN MEAL—Is very quiet and the demand is mainly of a retail character; may be quoted in small lots at 85@90 cts per bushel.

CEMENT—Louisville, $2.00@2.50 per bbl; Rosendale, $4.00@4.50; Calcined Plaster, $4.25@4.50.

CIDER—The arrivals within the past week or two have been increasing, but with a fair demand prices are still maintained, $5@8 per bbls, according to quality.

The arrivals for some weeks past have been unusually small. Oats steady, and, if anything, a shade firmer, though unchanged; 45@46½, by the car load, for good mixed to prime white; the receipts, it is expected, will soon commence to fall off, in consequence of the bad condition of the country roads. Rye—quiet and unchanged, 85@90 cts, buying and selling. New Corn is reported dull, with a supply considerably in excess of present requirements, though prices are not quotably lower; sales, on wharf and track, at 55@57. In New York, Coffees are still reported quiet and rather dull, and business, as has been the case all week, is at a complete stand-still. CATTLE.

Since the date of our last report, on Thursday (16th), the market has been rather quiet and the volume of business small, though this was owing more to a scarcity of stock than anything else; to-day there are several lots in the pens unsold, and it is probable that they will have to be held over until Monday; it is very seldom that there are any buyers here on Saturday, as they usually return east on Friday—had these cattle arrived a day or two sooner, they could have been sold at fair prices. In regard to the general tone of the market, it differs but little from that of last week; the demand, as already intimated, was fully up to the supply while in regard to prices there was but little change; prime to extra shipping cattle, averaging from 1,300 to 1,400 lbs, may be fairly quoted at 5½@6 cts—one drove of fancy brought 6¾. The great bulk of the cattle this week were bought for New York; there were but one or two Philadelphia buyers in attendance and they bought but very few if any. In addition to the Yorkers, there were a number of country buyers, and between the two the cattle, up until today, were pretty well cleaned up.

The advices from New York yesterday were less favorable, and this caused many operators to regard the prospects for next week with some apprehension. Philadelphia was bad this week, and this accounts, mainly for the limited attendance of Philadelphia buyers. All the eastern markets are very unsettled, and it behooves operators, therefore, to exercise more than ordinary caution.

SHEEP.

Receipts 60 cars, against 104 cars last week—the lightest run at these Yards for a long time. Market was slow, but, in consequence of the very light offerings, prices were fully maintained; had the arrivals been up to the ordinary standard, say 80 to 90 cars, the market would have been the slowest of the season, and prices would, no doubt, have dropped ½, perhaps a ⅛. Prime 90 to 100 lb fine wool sheep sold at 5@5½; good 80 to 85 lbs, at 4½@4¾; coarse wool, 100 to 120 lbs, 5.00@5.65; common Indiana, from 4 to 4½. Prospects, however, are favorable for next week, and, if the arrivals are not heavy, a good market may be expected; all depends on the receipts, as on this hinges the market, and on this depends whether prices will be better or worse.

HOGS

Receipts 258 cars, against 230 cars last week; market, up until yesterday and to-day, was firm and fairly active, and prices were well sustained; as noted in our report of Thursday, York hogs brought an advance of 20@25 cts per cwt; yesterday and to-day, however, with increased arrivals and less favorable advices from the east, the market was tame; buyers generally seemed to be pretty fully supplied, and, with a very limited demand, prices dropped from 10 to 25 cts per cwt.; York hogs, which on Wednesday and Thursday brought from 4.35 to 4.50, cannot be fairly quoted to-day above 4.20@4.30, and Philadelphia hogs dropped from 4.80@4.90 to 4.70@4.75. PETROLEUM MARKET.

The petroleum trade has not been characterized by anything especially important during the past week, excepting a still further decline in prices. Refined is lower than it has been for several years, and the indications today are that it has, for the present, at least, touched bottom; this is evident from the fact that there was considerable inquiry at 21¼, at which figure sales were made yesterday, and no sellers; furthermore, there were telegrams bidding 21¼, and, at the same time, asking if 21¼ would not buy, to name a price. It is considered very singular that refined should drop down to such a low point in the present condition of affairs. If stocks were excessively large, if exporters could not sell their exchange, or if tonnage was scarce and ocean freights exhorbitant, as was the case some two months ago, why then it would not seem so strange. Stocks in the east are not larger than usual; in Europe, the supply is somewhat in excess of the same time last year, but there has, as we noted the other day, been a large increase in the consumptive demand, and it is steadily increasing. There is no scarcity of vessels, nor are freights much, if any, higher than usual. In view of these facts, some operators are inclined to think that the refined market will improve before the close of the year, though, of course, no one expects anything like fancy prices. It strikes the trade generally, however, that refined is too low, and this is evident from the fact that it is away down below the cost of production. Crude continues weak and dull, and, as compared with yesterday, a shade lower; sale of one barge—the first sale of the kind made for several months—at 10¼, and we can report a settlement of 7,000 bbls, buyer this year, at 10¼. Parker—sales at $3.95@3.97. It is worthy of note that last year, when refined was down to 22@22½—the lowest point it touched—crude was selling at about $3.00.

Receipts crude this week, 17,268 bbls; last week, 14,903; January 1st to date, 1,015,349 same time last year, 954,910. Exports refined this week, 12,645; last week, 14,122; January 1st to date, 661,253; same time last year, 691,387.

RIVER NEWS.

The weather was cloudy and clear at intervals with every indication of more rain. The river continues to recede steadily although it is still in good navigable condition.

The Collier and barges departed for St. Louis yesterday with a heavy cargo of Pittsburgh manufactures.

The Mary Davage, Rover, Sam. Brown and Baltic, all with cargoes of iron ore arrived on Saturday.

Thus far but few disasters have been reported to the coal fleet. The Gipsey grounded five barges and a flat at Merriman; Jacob Painter, four barges at Crow's Island; Brilliant, one barge at Merriman and another at Hay's Ripple.

The John F. Tolle, Capt. Geo. D. Moore, is announced to depart for New Orleans to-day. Mr. B. F. Blood is in charge of the office.

The Arlington is due here from Cincinnati to-day, and will return to-morrow. Freight will be received for her this morning at the wharfboat by Mr. Chas. Fairman.

—The action of the Louisville convention after a full discussion of all the objectionable features in the present steamboat law, resulted in referring the whole subject to an Executive Committee of two from each State in the Union, with instructions and authority to prepare such a bill, or make such amendments to the present law as they shall deem best, and to have the same ready to present to Congress on the opening of its next session, December 4th.

At a subsequent meeting of the Executive Committee, a sub-committee of six were appointed, consisting of J. T. Stockdale, of Pittsburgh; E. W. Gould, of St. Louis; J. T. Whiting, of Detroit; C. W. Copeland, of New York, and J. S. Brown, of Baltimore, who are to meet at Pittsburgh November 21, and prepare a new steamboat bill, making it conform as nearly as possible to the requirements of navigation and the protection of life and property when afloat. Then, to adjourn to Washington City, where they are to meet the Executive Committee in a body, and submit to them the bill as prepared.—St. Louis Democrat.

—Capt. Lew. George is negotiating with Capt. John K. Booth for the purchase of the Allegheny Belle No. 4. Capt. George has also contracted at Pittsburgh for the construction of 50 white pine barges to bring coal from Kanawha, and the Traveler will leave there to-day with a full tow of theses barges, to be delivered at Point Pleasant. He is now interested in a new cannel coal mine, just opened and being worked, up the Kanawha.—Cin. Gazette.

—We clip the following items from the Cincinnati Commercial, of Friday: Clerk Anderson, of the Granite State, and Major Morris Dorsey arrived from Wheeling, together with Capt. Ed. Evans, from Pittsburgh. The latter has taken command of the Exchange, and will load and start her for Pittsburgh forthwith, where she will be lengthened. The Arlington reshipped her up-river passengers last night on the Emma Graham. Capt. Asa Sheppard came down from Wellsville and resumed his duties in the office of the Arlington, leaving for Pittsburgh to-day.

—Last week two libels were filed in the Clerk's office of the United States District Court, of New Albany, against the steamboat Leonidas, her tackle, engines, apparel and furniture. The engines of the Leonidas were seized by the Marshal upon monitions issued from the Court. Wednesday, Capt. David Barnes, of Galveston, Texas, bonded the boat, &c., out, with John H. Aston, of New Albany, as surety. The bond in each case was fixed at $500.

—The following named vessels were lying at Shippingport and Portland on Thursday: Spray, Pink Varble, Glasgow, Emma Floyd, Edinburgh, Lioness No. 2, Robert Mitchell, John Gilmore, Simpson Horner, Boaz, Tarascon, Morning Star, Mary Houston, J. S. McDonald, Gray Eagle, Charmer, Potomac, Emma C. Elliot and Camelia.

—The steamer Mattie, having a barge laden with wood, struck a log opposite Bon Harbor, Ohio river, and sunk in 4 feet of water, last Friday. This was her first trip, having been laid up during the present low stage of water. She is being wrecked. Her value was $4,000, and her insurance $3,000.

—The St. Louis Democrat says that "there is one thing at least about the steamer Katie P. Kountz worth mentioning, her extraordinary lightness of fuel; of coal 250 bushels, or of wood 14 cords, are enough to run her for a stretch of 24 hours.

—The Lake Superior was blown against the Keokuk Packet Company's wharfboat, at Quincy, last Tuesday morning, sinking it in about 6 feet of water. A large quantity of freight aboard was removed without damage.

—Capt. A. A. Barns sold the steamer Fleta at New Orleans last Monday, to Capt. John W. Blanks, for the Ouachita river trade. The price paid was $10,000.

—Parties in Memphis offered $12,000 for the steamer Mary Miller. They wanted her for the Arkansas river trade. Capt. Paul's price was $14,000.

—One of Wiggins' ferry boats collided with the George S. Wicks Tuesday; damage slight.

—Freight is reported plentiful at Louisville for all points.

HOME NEWS.

Committed.—Robinson, the man who attempted to assassinate Mr. John W. Pittock, of the Leader, was on Saturday committed for a hearing which will take place to-day.

Re-arrested.—Edgert, the man who shot Mr. Weaver at Wood's Run, was again arrested on Saturday and required to give bail in the sum of $3,000 for his appearance at court. It is now feared that Mr. W's. injuries will prove fatal, erysipelas having set in.

We direct attention to the card of James Bredin, Esq., Attorney-at-Law, whose office is 91 Grant street. Mr. Bredin's ability and character as a lawyer is of the highest order, being possessed of an extraordinary acuteness of perception so necessary in unraveling the mysteries and intracies of legal questions. We can cheerfully commend him to those needing his services, because we know him to be superlatively honest and capable, while for assiduous attention to business he has no superior.

Collisions on the River.

Two collisions occurred on the river near the city on Friday afternoon.

The tow boat "Hunter" collided with one of the ferry boats plying between this city and Temperanceville. The result was the demolition of the bulk head and wheelhouse of the ferry boat, and slight damages to the "Hunter."

The tow boat "Coal Hill" run into a tow of coal barges a short distance below the point, sinking two of them and knocking in the forecastle and otherwise damaging the boat to some extent. We did not learn who was the owner of the sunken barges.

Highway Robbery.

Mr. John A. Hall of Meadville, while in Forest county several months since was robbed of money and notes amounting to over $3,000, besides other valuable papers. He was besides assaulted and badly used up by the highwayman. On Saturday night Chief of Police Furlong of Forest county arrived in this city with a warrant for one Joseph Hidinger who is charged with being the guilty party in this case. It is thought that the accused is on his way to this city on a raft from the lumber regions and his arrival here is expected to-day. Mayor Brush indorsed the warrant and detailed one of his officers to accompany Mr. Furlong.

Almost Drowned.

About dark last evening a little boy whose name we were unable to learn came very near being drowned at the Monongahela wharf near the foot of Ferry street. The little fellow, in company with about twenty of his companions was playing about a number of coal flats lying at that place, and in running from one to the another fell in. After sinking twice, a companion succeeded in reaching a pole to him which he had just strength enough remaining to grasp hold of and be drawn to shore, when he dropped insensible. It took some time to resuscitate him but it was finally accomplished, and he was soon able to run about again.

Meetings To-day.

The Republicans of the Twelfth ward meet this evening at the O'Hara school house at 7½ o'clock to perfect arrangements in nominating ward officers.

The stockholders of the Keystone Bank hold their election for Board of Directors between the hours of 2 and 4 P. M.

The Twin City Lodge A. P. A. will meet to organize at 7½ P. M., at Sproul's new hall, North avenue, Allegheny city.

The stockholders of the Pittsburgh and Birmingham Passenger Railway Company will meet at the Monongahela House, at 11 o'clock A. M., to elect a Board of Directors for the ensuing year.

Twenty-second Ward.

The Republican primary election for Council and ward officers for the above ward took place on Saturday afternoon and resulted as follows: For Select Council, Alex. Chambers; Common Council, Dr. A. M. Barr and J. B. Sneathen. Mr. Bruce and Mr. Brown were nominated for School Directors.

Mr. Chambers is one of our most prosperous business men, and no doubt will be elected and fill the position with credit to himself and his constituents. Dr. Barr is a member of the present Council, and the fact that his constituents renominate him is conclusive evidence that he has made a faithful official.

Mr. Sneathen is a man well qualified for the position, and is one of the best working Republicans of the ward.

Jews, Judaism and its History.

On this subject an eloquent lecture was delivered last night in the Hebrew Church on Eighth street, by M. Ellinger, Esq., editor of the "Jewish Times" in New York, before a large, intelligent and appreciative audience, representing all denominations. Mr. Ellinger spoke at great length on the origin of Judaism and the various doctrines and systems up to the present day, of modern and advanced Judaism—of which he is the herald and advocate, as well as the advancement of ideas of all mankind. We can not undertake to reproduce the lecture, which, aside from its historical and chronological contents, was interwoven with so many beautiful words and thoughts, as it was delivered extemporaneously. We regret we could not have the manuscript.

False Pretenses.

Two suits on charges of false pretense were instituted at Alderman McMaster's office on Saturday. Amanda McManus alleged that Albert Little, an ex-policeman, obtained boarding from her to the amount of $71 by representing that he had $400 in the hands of City Treasurer Cochran. She further states that she nursed him while he had the small-pox, for all of which she has received nothing, while it turns out that Mr. Cochran has nothing belonging to the accused. Before the same magistrate G. H. Demler, house-furnishing merchant, alleged that Patrick Mann obtained $34.75 worth of goods from him, stating that he had $600 in the German Savings Bank. He afterwards learned that the accused had no money on deposit at all. Warrants were issued in each case.

Charged With False Pretence—A Philadelphia Importation in Trouble.

Saturday morning Mr. John Gray appeared before Alderman McMasters and made a complaint for false pretences against Harry V. Wilson, an importation from Philadelphia, who, within the last few months came here and settled down in the legal profession. The charge upon which he is held, is that of obtaining Gray's endorsement to a note for $1,000, by representing that he, Wilson, wished to close a bargain on which he had already paid $800. As collateral for the endorsement, it is alleged he represented himself as the owner of considerable land in Bedford county, all of which, Gray alleges he has since discovered to be false.

Wilson was arrested and being unable to procure bail, was sent to jail to await a hearing.

Entertainment at Dixmont.

On last Thursday evening an entertainment for the benefit and amusement of the inmates of Dixmont Hospital was gotten up by the attendants of the house, the "Dixmont Minstrels," as they styled themselves, appearing in a very choice and entertaining programme, of a character well calculated to please and divert the unfortunate patients of that institution. A combination of tragedy, comedy, burlesque and vocal music was the fund which was drawn upon for the occasion. Some very creditable acting, indeed, was displayed, for amateurs, while the music was really deserving of special commendation. The meed of praise is deservedly awarded to those who, at no small trouble, were thus instrumental in bringing, for a little time, joy and gladness to the hearts of the unfortunate ones who constituted the audience on this occasion.

Public Entertainments.

THE OPERA.—Advent of the new Parepa-Rosa opera combination to-night at the new Pittsburgh Opera House, when "Maritina" will be presented. The occasion has been selected as that for the debut before a Pittsburgh audience of the great American prima donna M'me. Vanzandt, who will assume the principal character. The great fame of this lady has already attracted attention in music circles here, and it is hardly probable there is one member of this "ring," which includes all who love melody, who is not anxious to hear and decide individually upon her merit,—and that ensures a grand ovation.

FIFTH AVENUE OPERA HOUSE.—Fritz will continue to delight the large audiences which are seen to assemble at this place of amusement nightly. By special request, this drama will be kept upon the stage for the first three nights of this week, after which there will be an entire change of programme.

A South Side Sensation.

About seven o'clock yesterday morning the keeper of a boarding house on Carson street, Birmingham, appeared at the office of Mayor Brush, desiring to make an information against one of his boarders, a young man, whom he alleges to be guilty of having been improperly intimate with his (complainant's) wife. The husband alleges that he has been some time suspicious of such a state of affairs, and in order to be assured of the exact status of things, he started ostensibly on a trip to Monongahela City, really remaining in the village and taking occasion to watch the maneuvers of the suspected parties. He further alleges that on Saturday night he found the guilty pair in a room together. The young man was arrested and gave bail for a hearing to-day, when the full details will be developed, with which we are already possessed, but which are unfit for publication. We withhold the names by particular request.

Sudden Death.

Mr. Jacob Zeigler, an old and esteemed citizen of the Seventh ward, died suddenly at his residence on Colwell street, on Saturday evening. Mr. Z. had been ailing for several days but his illness was not considered very serious, a physician not being notified until a day or two previous to his demise. The community have been greatly startled by the statement since Mr. Zeigler's decease, that the occasion of his death was that peculiarly fatal and to a considerable extent contagious disease known as the "spotted fever." Deceased was widely known and universally esteemed. He had repeatedly filled offices of trust in the community, and for a number of years previous and up to the time of his death had served his district in the capacity of School Director, filling the position in a highly efficient manner.

Last evening the funeral services were conducted by the pastor of Pennsylvania Avenue M. E. Church, of which deceased had long been an earnest and devout member. This morning at six o'clock the remains will be taken by rail to his old home for interment.

Some people have a gift of imparting an air of elegance, of taste, of fitness to everything around them; with an improvement on the touch of Midas, famed in fable. Everything on which they lay their hands becomes beautiful. There is a sort of fascination in the surroundings of these artists, from the result of their consummate art that renders them superior to other people. Mr. Louis Dreka seems to be one of them. Our readers already know that he is the famous stationer of No. 1033 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, and very many of them are doubtless familiar with the character of his goods, mere paper and envelopes in themselves, but transformed by the artist into objects of beauty and taste. Reader, did you ever see one of Dreka's boxes of paper? Did you ever open one, and see the quires of delicately figured French, and rich, creamy English papers and envelopes, adorned with quaint cipher or resplendent crest? Did you ever breathe in the faint, exquisite, scarcely perceptible perfume which steals from amid the delicate sheets? If you have, you know what luxury is. If you have not, the world [illegible] has pleasures which you have not tasted. [illegible] has this artist become, that the So fa[illegible] belle of more than one eastern city recherch[illegible] her dainty lip in scorn, upon receiving an [illegible] invitation to a ball, or rout or wedding, which [illegible] does not show unmistakable [illegible] and talent. Nor is this unsigns of his taste [illegible] for the exquisite cards known in Pittsburg[illegible] many of our brilliant which have announced [illegible] weddings, could have festivals, or fashionable [illegible] establishment than emerged from no other [illegible] Mr. Dreka's.

CHRISTIAN WOMEN'S WORK.

The Woman's Christian Association—Its Work During the Past Year—Encouraging Record—The Auxiliary Societies—Interesting Reports—The Year's Work Detailed—Address by Dr. Hornblower.

Last evening the annual meeting of the Women's Christian Association was held in the Third Presbyterian Church, (Rev. F. A. Noble) pastor. There was in attendance a large audience, many of the churches having dispensed with the regular Sabbath evening services to permit the members of the congregations to be present and participate in the exercises. The pulpit was occupied by the Rev. Dr. Hornblower, Rev. Dr. Howard and Rev. Mr. Noble.

The choir, preceded the exercises with the singing of the hymn, "Rock of ages," as a voluntary, after which Rev. Mr. Noble read a scripture selection.

Rev. Dr. Howard announced the 829th hymn, commencing

"Though I speak with angels tongue," which was sung by the choir and congregation and was followed with prayer by the Rev. Dr. Howard. Another hymn, the 660th selection was sung, when

Mr. T. K. Cree proceeded to read the annual reports. First came the report of the Secretary of which takes a general review of the work performed by all the auxiliary soceties, the President of each having a Vice President in the Parent association. A Bible reader had been employed during the year and the result justified the change in the method of spreading the truth. The "Industrial School" during the year had been closed for the summer season and had not since been reopened because of the diseases prevalent in the city. The Gilmore mission property had been transferred to the association in trust. As soon as the transfer is legally completed, it is proposed to open this mission on a new basis. The managers also hope soon to be able to open a MIDNIGHT MISSION and a MOTHERS' MEETING. The work in the Penitentiary had progressed poorly—and was a field of work which had been faithfully improved by one of the managers, Miss Bryan. A vacancy had been created in the Board by the transfer of Miss Bryan to the Presidency of the Home for Working Women, vice Rev. Mrs. Garrette, resigned. Miss J. M. Smith had been elected to fill the second vacancy. The report also notes the great regret of the managers, because of the resignation of the Secretary, Miss Mattie Fowler, who had been identified with that office from the organization of the association, but had been compelled to resign, because of removal from the city.

The report of

THE BIBLE READER.

Miss Kate Cumming notes that the work was commenced December 1st, 1870. Five hours of five days of the week are taken up in the work. Wherever possible in the families visited, the reader read the Bible, prayed, conversed, left tracts, urged the children to go to Sabbath school, etc., etc.; sometimes the sick are relieved and the destitute clothed.

The Treasurer of the Association, Mrs. W. P. Logan, reported $1,049.96 received, $626.13 expended, leaving a balance of $421.83.

The Secretary of the Temporary Home for Destitute Women reported that 207 women had been received into the Home during the year, 76 of whom had parents living, three aged sick had been nursed, others had been sent to the hospital, families had been cared for for a day or two and then sent off on their way.

The managers close by saying that to keep up their work they need a permanent home where the hopeful cases can be taken from under the contaminating influence of transient inmates.

The Treasurer's account showed the receipts of $1,647, and expenditures $1,025.85—leaving a balance of $621,11.

WORKING WOMEN'S HOME.

The report of Mrs. Thomas McFadden, Secretary of the Home for Working Women notes that forty-eight women have availed themselves of its advantages during the year—the greatest number at any one time being 21 and the lowest 2. The Home was opened formally in January 1871. The girls in the mills and factories whom it was expected to reach through this means still stand aloof, but the managers yet feel encouraged to hopes that these women will yet become aware of its advantages. The Home has a library of 282 volumes, and in addition a number of the daily papers and magazines. The managers plead for more money to extend their field of operations.

During the year the money received by the Treasurer amounted to $2,964 50; the expenses were $2,340.84, leaving a balance of $623 86.

"THE SHELTERING ARMS."

The Secretary of the Sheltering Arms, or Home for Fallen Women, reported that they proposed to erect a commodious home with thirty-six bed rooms and a full complement of bathing, dining and other rooms, together with a chapel, according to an improved plan for $30,000. Five acres of land had been donated by Mr. James Kelly for the grounds. The Board of Managers had been elected December 8, 1870. The right wing of the building had been completed, at a cost of $16,260. The building is now under roof.

THE "AGED WOMAN'S HOME."

The report of Mrs. Mary C. Thurston, the Secretary of the aged Protestants Woman's Home commences with a statement that the building has been completed since the last annual report, and the Home opened for occupancy. The Home is a three storied brick edifice one hundred by forty; four halls, each seven feet wide, running the entire length; fifty-seven rooms of which thirty-seven are bed rooms; also chapel, parlor, sitting room, infirmary, two bathrooms, dining room, kitchen, wash room, ironing and drying room, bake room, two furnace rooms, four cellars, provision rooms, elevator and clothes rooms. All are heated by the two furnaces, and provided with water and gas.

During the past year an amendment was obtained to the charter by which hereafter the full control of the property is vested in the Manager, although the "Home" is still an auxiliary to the Women's Christian Association, as when first organized.

The Home was finally opened October 3, 1871, and ten aged women have been admitted as residents. In response to an appeal to the churches, the rooms for these inmates had been comfortably furnished. The Board suggests that each church contribute $125 at an early day by which means the Home may be furnished throughout. The Board hope that the congregation of each church "will provide at least one room where some lonely woman—desolate in the sear and chilly autumn of life"—may enjoy the quiet seclusion of a home provided for her by tender christian hearts and hands.

The report then refers to the fact that provision must be made for the daily wants of the inmates. For this they look forward to a permanent endowment. For this purpose the sum of $150 required from each person admitted will be appropriated, together with all other sums that may be donated. The bequest of $6,000 from the late Jame McAuley for an a foundation for the endowment. At present the manages depend upon subscriptions to supply their daily wants.

Accompanying the report is that of the Treasurer, Miss Jane Holmes, which shows a total balance on hand of $9,597.01, which includes Mr. McAuley's bequest. During the year for building and other expenses there was expended $13,071.69.

When the reading of the reports had been completed the congregation rose and sang another hymn after which the Rev. Dr. H. H. Hornblower, was introduced and made an interesting address appealing strongly to the sympathies of the people and urging the liberal support of the various enterprises from which such interesting and encouraging reports had been received.

A collection was then taken up and a handsome amount realized when the congregation was dismissed.

THE JAIL MANAGEMENT.

Those Hall Charges Hauled Up—Warden Scandrett Fully Vindicated—The Inspectors are Satisfied—Likewise the Prison Society—Ditto the People.

A few days since we made a note of the fact that Rev. H. H. Hall, Chaplain of the Prison Society, in his monthly report to that body, had made charges against Warden Scandrett for his management of the jail, and that these charges had came up before the Prison Board. Saturday a special meeting was held to consider the matter. The members of the board present were Judges Hampton, Sterrett, Stowe and Collier, Sheriff Fleming, Commissioners Scott, McGunnigle and Stuckrath, Mayors Brush and Callow, and Controller Lambert. Judge Hampton presided.

Rev. Mr. Hall was put upon the stand and made his statement—which rested entirely upon stories told him by the prisoners. He complained of favoritism manifested toward some of the prisoners in giving them choice cells; in keeping some in the hospital when they should be in their cells, and others in their cells when they should be in the hospital, with allowing some prisoners to talk for an indefinite length of time at the bars, and cutting short others in less than five minutes; extortion by the inside turnkey, &c. The reverend gentleman admitted that he had obtained this information from the prisoners, and had never reported it to the Prison Board, believing that he should first report to the Society. He was the only witness called in defence of the mismanagement.

At his request a er his statement had been finished, a number of prisoners were called from the jail to testify—including the "Rev." E. L. W. Jones, Samuel Savage, Michael Biglin and John Jones—in relation to the charge of favoritism on behalf of the warden and extortion by the turnkey. None, however, testified to anything wrong except the "Rev." Jones, who said that he had been charged twenty-five cents for posting a letter; that Reed, the turnkey, had jeered at him after he was convicted, pointing him out to the prisoners as "the Rev. Jones, the swindler, who cheated a woman out of twelve thousand dollars," and when he (Jones) said he would report the thing to the warden, the turnkey insulted him. [The inside turnkey is always a prisoner and in this case was one appointed by court to do that duty.]

Mr. Scandrett then produced a number of witnesses—including Judges Sterrett and Stowe, District Attorney Pearson, and Dr. Wray, Rev. Dermitt and Mr. McGunnegle, members of the Prison Society, who testified that they had always been received with uniformly good courtesy, and that they believed the management of the jail at the present time to be as good as possible.

After the examination of witnesses was concluded, the spectators withdrew, when the Board proceeded to consider the testimony which had been adduced. A resolution was adopted appointing Judges Hampton, Sterrett and Stowe, and Controller Lambert as a committee to prepare a series of resolutions acquitting the Warden and other prison officers of all the charges that had been made against them.

The jail physician was also instructed to prepare a report setting forth what changes, if any, he considered necessary in the prison diet, and to submit the same at the meeting of the Board on next Saturday morning, at nine o'clock.

THE COURTS.

Saturday's Proceedings.

COMMON PLEAS—JUDGE STERRETT.

Routine business occupied the attention of this Court for the few minutes it was in session.

An application for a charter for the Humboldt Fire Insurance Company was presented and the usual order made.

A similar application for amendment to the charter of the Free Mason Mutual Insurance Company was presented and the preliminary papers granted.

Three or four orders were made for the appointment of viewers in cases between the Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston Railway and property owners on the South Side through whose property the road extends.

A bill in equity was filed by John S. Hall, praying for an injunction against Wm. Edmunds. The paper sets forth that Hall was a resident of Allegheny County, and owned a piece of land about thirty-four acres in Shaler township, that he made a verbal agreement with Edmunds, a resident of Shaler, to purchase the land, and fixed a certain day for the payment of the first installment; that Edmunds failed to make the payment and was subsequently notified by Hall that the bargain was "off," that notwithstanding this notice Edmunds took possession of the property, built a log shanty thereon and engaged men to cut timber growing on the land; and furthermore entered proceedings in court to compel Hall to make the sale according to agreement which he (Edmunds) himself had failed to keep. The orator (Hall) therefore asked for a preliminary injunction to prevent Edwards from cutting any more timber or using the land until the case was decided in court.

The prayer was heard and a preliminary injunction granted, to be in force until next Saturday, when the case will be heard.

NOT A PITTSBURGH GIRL.

The Whole Story—That Sensation Investigated—The Facts in the Case.

A few days ago we made mention of the fact that Mayor Brush had received a lette from a party signing himself "R." stating that he had met a beautiful young girl in a house of bad character in Cincinnati, she professed to be a Pittsburgh girl, and was anxious to get back home to friends again, and the writer was urgent that something should be done in her behalf.

The story became circulated in Pittsburgh, and it was not long before there was interwoven into the romance in a disagreeable way the name of a young gentleman of this city who occupies the highest position in social business and church circles—all of which at length led to active measures for a full investigation. For this purpose Clark Patterson visited Cincinnati from which he returned Saturday morning—after having ascertained all the facts.

Upon arriving at Cincinnati it seems he found the object of his search and at once recognized her as one who had once been before His Honor. She gave her name as Jessie Woods, which was a slight misstatement. Her true name, it would seem, is Jane Beckley. The cold truth story is. She is a native of Wellsburg, W. Va. Some months ago she was led from the paths of virtue by a well known citizen of that place under promise of marriage, a promise which never was and never will be fulfilled, and that to hide her shame she left home and friends. From Wellsburg she said she went to Pittsburgh and remained there only five weeks, boarding the entire time at the St. Clair Hotel. From Pittsburgh she went to Cincinnati, and having no other way of supporting herself, entered the house where the officer found her. From her conversation it would seem that she was horrified at the situation in which she was placed, but did not seem to know how to get out of it.

Mr. Patterson questioned her in regard to the writer of the letters to Mayor Brush and Mayor Davis, who signed himself "R." She claimed that she knew very well who the individual was, but declined to give his name.

When Mr. Patterson left Cincinnati, efforts were being made by the authorities to have her sent home to Wellsburg. And that finishes the story of the letter.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Reduced Price of Keeping Small Pox Patients—The Disease Abating—Proposition for a General Hospital for the Entire County.

The Board of Health held a regular semi-weekly meeting on Saturday afternoon, President Gross in the chair.

Dr. Gilmore and Health Officer Gray reported that they had effected an arrangement with the Mercy Hospital and Home of Mercy for a reduction in the price of keeping small-pox patients. Hereafter the hospitals mentioned are to charge but ten dollars per week for cases up to convalescence, and six dollars per week thereafter until discharged by the physician in attendance.

A communication was read from Sister M. Dowles, in charge of the Mercy Hospital, relative to the matter above mentioned.

The Health Officer reported that there were at present twenty-nine small-pox patients in the different hospitals. Thirty-three new cases have been reported at the office the present week by physicians, and there have been sixteen deaths during the week so far—a decided falling off.

Dr. McCandless offered the following:

Resolved, That this Board invite the boards of health of Allegheny city, Birmingham and other boroughs of the county of Allegheny, together with the Directors of the Poor of Allegheny county and city of Pittsburgh, to meet this Board for the purpose of conference in relation to securing a general hospital for the accommodation of the entire county of Allegheny.

The resolution was adopted, the Board to fix the time of the meeting.

The Board then adjourned.

THE LAW ASSOCIATION.

Meeting on Saturday—Proposition to Allow Defendants in Criminal Cases to Testify.

At a meeting of the Law Association held on Saturday afternoon, Jas. W. Murray presided and J. E. McKelvey acted as Secretary.

Fred. M. Magee, Esq., offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on new statutes:

Resolved, That we consider the expediency of securing legislation whereby defendants in criminal cases be allowed to testify.

J. R. Butterfield, Esq., presented a communication from the joint committee of lawyers, appointed by the Legislature to revise the report of the civil code commissioners, asking for any suggestions or advise that might be given in order that their labours may prove satisfactory to the bar and advantageous to the people. The paper was referred to the committee on the revision of the civil code.

A resolution was offered and adopted expressing the appreciation of the association of the manner in which General A. L. Pearson has discharged the duties of District Attorney the past term.

THE SUFFERERS GRATITUDE.

Letter from the Northwest.

The following letter was received by Mayor Brush on Saturday.

OFFICE RELIEF COMMITTEE,
HOLLAND CITY, MICH., Nov. 13, 1871.

DEAR SIR:—We are in receipt, per railroad, free, of the following goods from you, addressed to our Local Relief Committee: Fifteen bundles sheet iron; 125 boxes window glass, 75 kegs of nails, 3 boxes of locks and latches, 4000 pair of hinges and screws. Please accept our thanks, in behalf of the sufferers by the fire here, for your valuable and timely donation. It fills a great need, and is really very much better for us than its actual value in cash would have been. We feel that your noble generosity has united our young and sorely-stricken city to her elder sister Pittsburgh, by bonds of gratitude which will be even stronger and more enduring than the iron rails which will, within the next twelve months connect us directly with her.

Respectfully and thankfully,
HENRY D. POST, Secretary

HON. JARED M. BRUSH,
Mayor of the city of Pittsburgh.

JUSTICE ASSAULTED.

A South Side Guardian Attacked.

Last night about five o'clock a little scene occurred on Carson street, Birmingham, which caused some excitement. Justice Stouffer, of Monongahela borough, with Thos. Kernan, a friend, were walking along that thoroughfare, when they were suddenly assaulted by two Limerick roughs, known as the Carlin Brothers. Taken altogether by surprise, they were somewhat slow in assuming the defensive, but when the official was ungently laid in his little bed in the gutter, and had half of his glossy garments torn from him, he was thoroughly aroused to a proper degree of belligerency, and with the assistance of his friend, succeeded, after a severe struggle, in collaring the Carlin Brothers and marching them off in triumph to the lock-up. They remained there during last evening, and to-day will probably learn what it costs to indulge in a playfully humorous attack of that character upon an unoffending pedestrian—and an officer of the law at that.

A Big Day's Work!

NO OFFICIAL notice has as yet been served on Councilmen for a meeting this week.

THE DEATH NOTICE of John Berry, Esq., one of Pittsburgh's most respected citizens appears in to-days paper.

MESSRS. YOUNG & BOOTH, the enterprising proprietors of the Allegheny Brewery, have more orders than they can fill.

A LITTLE boy named Gilg, residing at 129 Beaver avenue, Allegheny, slipped on the side walk Saturday night and broke his thigh.

THE latest euphurium for red hair is Canandaigua color; Canandagua being, as every New York traveler knows, a little beyond Auburn.

ON Saturday, Mr. Adam Gillie, proprietor of the Fifth Ward House, Allegheny, was proceeding along Beaver avenue when he slipped and fell, breaking his left leg.

AT NEW ORLEANS a ten-year old negro boy, who had been arrested for theft, refused counsel, and pleaded his own case so eloquently that he was straightway discharged.

YESTERDAY the funeral services of the late Rev. Dr. George Brown took place at the First Methodist church on Fifth avenue. The sermon was preached by his former associate, Rev. J. Cowl. The services were of a most impressive character.

YESTERDAY morning about one o'clock a fire broke out in the blacksmith shop of the Fort Wayne railroad depot, Second ward, Allegheny. It was promptly extinguished however, by the fire department, called out by an alarm from Box 21. Loss about $150.

PAT. TRACY, who resides on Juniata street, Allegheny, and works in the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad shops, while coupling the tender of an engine Saturday night, had his hand badly crushed. He was removed to Dr. Cunningham's office, where his wounds were dressed.

THE following appointments have been made by Gen. Pearson to fill vacancies on his staff: Dr. Wm. H. Daly to be surgeon-in-chief with the rank of Lieutenant-colonel, vice Roberts, resigned; A. P. Callow to be aide-de-camp with the rank of major, vice Jeremy, resigned.

First Ward School House.

EDITORS GAZETTE—I have not heretofore asked space in your columns for anything relative to the First Ward, Allegheny, School. I have read the articles published in your paper favoring the erection of a new building, and also designating the ground for that purpose, but have seen little in them calculated to make converts to the project, or even to satisfy those who actually favor it.

Let us examine the matter a little. Is there a necessity for a new school house? That is the question which should, of course, take precedence of all others. That the present house is large enough no one will undertake to deny. The only other question then which really has any relevancy is—Is it safe? This question is important, for I contend strenuously for safety to the inmates of all houses of a public character—as absolute as intelligent architects can make it. The present house is of moderate height (three stories), with four school rooms on each floor; the different stories are reached by wide stairways, with solid walls on each side; and the youngest children are all taught on the ground floor. Every precaution is thus taken against accidents, whether from sudden panics or any other cause. This narrows the question down to the simple one of, is the house strong enough for the weight which it has to bear? I have been present during exhibitions and examinations in that building, within a year or two, when the whole of the pupils, teachers, school directors and auditors were crowded into the third story, and I can aver, in all truth, that I neither thought of any danger myself, nor did I hear of any one ever hinting at such a thing. Besides, I was a member of the Board during the whole of last year, and I can with equal truth assert that during the whole of that period no question of strength was ever mooted before the Board. When we bear in mind the fact that several of the directors who now favor a new house, were then and had been for years on the Board, and constituted the committee which had charge of the building, this sudden alarm of theirs for its safety does seem wonderfully strange and unaccountable.

On the whole, while I feel confident of the entire safety of the structure, yet in deference to what I believe to be baseless fears, I ask of the directors, as a duty they now owe to the people whom they have alarmed for their children's safety, that they officially designate some gentlemen who are above suspicion, to procure the professional opinion of an experienced architect. Should he certify to its safety, that will end the matter; but if in his judgment it lacks strength, it will be his business to show how to remedy every weakness and make it equal to new. For surely the building art is not so contemptibly low about here as to require the abandonment of a costly brick structure, because a portion of it is about twenty years old.

Respectfully yours,
A. F. MARTHENS.

The Allegheny Hospital.

It is creditable to the citizens of Allegheny that they so promptly decided to have a hospital, and so quickly provided one, which seems to answer very well the temporary purpose for which it was calculated and adapted.

It is to be hoped that the laudable zeal and energy of the citizent and councils of Allegheny will not have exhausted themselves on the temporary provision already made for their sick, but will be kept alive and active until a permanent, substantial and capacious hospital shall be erected within the city limits, one adapted to current and ordinary, as well as to extraordinary emergencies. A city of 60,000 surely should not be without such an institution; recent experience indeed demonstrated the necessity of a city hospital, and every intelligent and experienced physicians is agreed, that the location should, by all means, be within the city limits, that it may at all times be of easy and quick access, that it may have an abundant supply of soft water (this is of especial importance) and to obviate the danger of using inflammable fluids, it should be within reach of the gas works, and so located as that it could avail itself of public sewerage.

We believe two committees have been organized for sanitary purposes in Allegheny, one, of citizens, of which Dr. R. B. Mowry is chairman and Dr. W. M. Herron, F. R. Brunot, Alex. Leggate and Alex. Moore are members. The other appointed by Councils, the interests of the city, in the matter of a hospital could not be confided to better men, and it is a subject well worthy of their serious and careful consideration, let those two committees co-work, co-act and co-advise on the subject and press at this time on the public mind the wisdom and policy, not to say the necessity of providing for a permanent hospital on a scale adequate to the present and probable future wants of the community in which they live and the importance of moving at once in the matter. When all minds are reproaching the city for having so entirely neglected, hitherto to provide itself with such an institution. We feel that there should be no hesitation or delay in the matter, and commend it to the consideration of the people and especially to that of the committees referred to.

Penn Avenue and the Oakland Railroad.

The worthy people residing along Penn avenue between East Liberty and Wilkinsburg, will be put to great inconvenience during the coming winter on account of the non-completion of the Nicholson pavement. The road on the east side of the bridge at East Liberty is ploughed up, partially graded, and is left in a most deplorable condition. The Oakland cars cannot run down to the village—they are deprived of their track, and no one seems to know when things will be in convenient working order. The Oakland company seems peculiarly unfortunate on their line, for it has been one thing after another they have had to contend with, either at the East Liberty or Pittsburgh end, until a person wonders how they show any patience or forbearance under such repeated trials. We may rest assured there are not many Americans that would have fought against the disheartening obstacles with any more patience than these German citizens have shown. The matters they have had to contend with have been of a physical nature, and have lain altogether beyond their control. I can have some sympathy for them, for my position has enabled me to see so much that other parties refused to see, that I have often wondered why they were so much picked at by carping and inconsiderate persons, who, under the same circumstances, would not do half so well. When everything works in our favor—when blessings come in at every door—when the man swells under the idea that he is blessed far beyond his fellows, it is easy to wear a smiling face, and be as bland as a summer morning. Let the scene shift, and misfortune drive him cowering to the wall—let foe after foe insult him,—let his light of hope grow dim, and then behold him, and you may form some idea of a being you might be so unholy as to mock at.

JOHN K. HOLMES.

The Library,

No. 60 Lacock street, is one of the finest saloons to be found in Allegheny City. It is well supplied with the finest and best wines and liquors to be found in the market, and is presided over by W. D. Bois, one of the most genial and accommodating men to be found in the business. The customers of the Library are first class; and the reason why this is so, is that they appreciate all that is good—and knowing the purity of all that passes over the counter of the Library, "they go for it." A saloon having the reputation for uprightness and honesty in giving its customers the best to be obtained, is bound to succeed—and such a place is the Library. What is still better, the celebrated ales of Young & Booth, of the Allegheny brewery, are always on draught, and give such satisfaction to all parties as to create a great demand for them, making their consumption most marvellous. To our friends visiting Allegheny, we say, by all means, take in the Library in your perambulations, and rest assured that you will find that we have not enlarged upon the facts. Mr. Bois is an accommodating host, and has a welcome for all. Good stabling is attached to the house.

Alexis, the Russian Grand Duke hasn't yet decided upon the purchase of that new suit, made in American style, from Urling, Folansbee & Co.'s, but a great many more sensible people than he perhaps have decided and do make this store, Southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Wood street, their headquarters for the purchase of fashionable clothing.

GENERALITIES.

MR. LEAR, the author of the Nonsense Book, has a new book in press, called More Nonsense.

THE amount of the conscience fund since its commencement November 30, 1863, nearly nine years since, is $126,-147,35.

MANY who heard Theodore Tilton's lecture on Home, last Friday night, wished he could be made to stick to his subject.—Boston Courier.

MRS. JOAQUIN MILLER is at Albany, Oregon, arranging for publication the poems she has written from time to time over the signature of "Minnie Myrtle."

M. DECAISUE presents to the Institute of France the following statistics of suicides: In London one in 175 deaths; in New York one in 172; in Vienna one in 160; in Paris one in 72.

THE old reliable Memphis Avalanche exclaims: "The old Democratic leaders are utterly at sea. They have lost their wits, and their campaigns have but piled disaster upon disaster."

WILLIAM MORRIS'S new poem, the title of which will be "Love is Enough," is to be published shortly. The work, unlike any of this author's former productions, will be issued with illustrations and unusual ornamental borders specially designed for it.

A MARRIED gentleman of Elizabeth, New Jersey, lost a valuable diamond pin, which he advertised in the Herald, leaving fifteen dollars with the book-keeper as a reward to the finder. His wife was the lucky person. She took the pin to the Herald office and got the money.

A YOUNG miss of fourteen was recently sent by express through the company of Wells, Fargo & Co., from Vallejo, California, to Annapolis, Maryland. She was under the care of over a dozen different agents, and had nothing to do but obey directions, and arrived safely, C. O. D.

MICHIGAN farmers are beset by an organized band of horse thieves, who steal horses in large numbers, and, swimming them across the river, sell them in Canada. Every county in the State has been visited by the rascals who, despite the most vigorous pursuit, have as yet escaped arrest.

A LADY, sitting in the same box of an opera house with a French physician was much troubled with ennui, and happened to gape. "Excuse me, ma'am, said the doctor, "I am glad you did not swallow me. "Give yourself no uneasiness," said the lady, "I am a Jewess, and never eat pork."

THE Emperor William, of Germany, is in his seventy-fifth year, but his hair and beard alone betray his age. His complexion is fresh, and his powers of endurance are still great. It is thought he owes his physical powers to his simple, soldier-like mode of living, although he comes of a strong and hardy family.

THE following advertisement appears in a Tennessee paper. "To whom it may concern. Whereas (name omitted), a resident of Knoxville, did promise to marry me on the 21st instant, but, instead of so doing, did flunk and run off, I brand her as a liar and a person of miserable character generally. "CHARLES BAXTER."

THE Queen of Holland recently went in state to the Vatican, where the Pope conversed with her for nearly two hours. After presenting her suite to the Holy Father, the Queen visited Cardinal Antonelli. At the Vatican, they attach great importance to this visit of a Protestant princess to the head of the Catholic church.

MR. CYRUS W. FIELD is going to Rome to attend a convention of the principal telegraph companies of the world which is to be held at that city next month. Mr. Field is pushing forward his scheme of a telegraph around the world, the only link yet to be finished being that between San Francisco and China, by way of the Sandwich Islands.

GENERAL HARDEE has been instructing the Florida farmers in a system of tactics to be employed against vegetable eating insects, which is, naturally enough, concussion of gunpowder or other explosives. He cleared his garden of the curculio by touching off two pounds of powder, the shock killing every insect within a considerable radius.

YOU will see that among the contributions for Chicago is one from the Queen herself, and you will say she has done handsomely. Five hundred pounds is a good deal of money for her to give to one object. I may say it is an unusual sum. The demands upon her are very numerous, and her subscriptions seldom rise above one hundred pounds or guineas.—London Letter.

FOUR ladies of Galesburg, Illinois, who were out collecting for the Chicago Relief Fund, came upon a fossil, who facetiously remarked that he had a patch of potatoes, and "if they were a mind to dig them up, they could have all they wanted." Not at all daunted, the ladies got some shovels, dug twenty bushels that afternoon, and came back the next day and finished the patch.

THE Cincinnati Commercial says: "Mother Goose Set to music" is published by Carleton & Co., of New York, with pictorial illustrations. We detect in the designs the clever humor of Carleton himself." Which is singular as we detect in the designs the clever humor of the artist who illustrated the English edition which was so popular last winter, and the plates of which were purchased by Carleton himself.

AS ELIAS KING, a well-to-do farmer of Haywood County, Tennessee, was laying upon a lounge, a few nights ago, with his wife sitting by his side, he was killed by some unknown assassin, who fired at him through a window and shot him through the breast. A negro of bad character, named Edmund, is supposed to have committed the deed. Very shortly after the murder he disappeared, taking with him one of Mr. King's horses.

REV. HENRY R. WAITE, a recent graduate of Hamilton College, has sailed for Europe on several commissions, one of which is to put into practical operation Elihu Burritt's plan for an international pulpit exchange. It is proposed to arrange in both countries a system by which the clergymen of either may travel to and about the other at reduced rates, stopping at a specified place each Sunday to fill a pulpit made vacant on the same plan.

A CEREMONY of marriage, in which the Church of England and the Episcopal Church of the United States were both represented, was solemnized at the Church of the Transfiguration, in New York, on Tuesday. Mr. Elihu Chauncey, of Philadelphia, was united in holy matrimony to Miss Mary J. Potter, daughter of the Bishop of New York. The officiating clergymen were the Bishop of New York and the Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of Litchfield.

A LADY correspondent of a Western paper says: "Woman generally have an instinct against organizations composed of woman only, and they are right; no great good can ever be effected by them, because sooner or later they fall into the hands of that one among them who has the strongest will, the greatest spirit of appropriation, the most persistent selfishness—the one, in short, which is most like a man—and the whole machine becomes her little machine."

THE latest character to disappear is Lycurgus, the famous Spartan layer. Herr Trieber, author of a new work in German on "The Spartan Constitution," finds that the Greeks themselves were divergent to the extent of a century as to the time when Lycurgus lived; that all existing accounts of him are traceable to an obscure writer named Euphorus, whose works have perished, fragments only surviving in Plutarch and Aristotle, and that Euphorus was untrustworthy and an inventor of names and dates.

THE LATE Sir Roderick Murchison appointed Prof. Archibald Geikie of Edinburg his literary executor, and left him a legacy of $5,000. The Professor will, it is understood, write Sir Roderick's life. Sir Roderick has also bequeathed to each of the professors at Jermyn street, $500. To the institution he has left the snuff box and the magnificent Siberian aventurine vase, mounted on a porphyry pedestal, presented to him by the late Emperor of Russia. He has also left to the same institution his valuable gold and platinum plate.

MR. GLADSTONE, the British Premier, accompanied by Mrs. Gladstone and other members of his family, recently visited the Royal Alfred Theater, London, to witness the performance of "King John." The appearance of the Prime Minister, shortly before the rising of the curtain, was the signal for a demonstration, the spectators rising to their feet in all parts of the house, and cheering with great heartiness. Some lines in the play were also marked out for special applause, being evidently regarded as having an application to the politics of the day.

GATH sketches the figures in the social sensation at Washington in these hair lines: "Catacazy is a little whiffet of a Teutonic Tartar, married to a stunning fine blond, with a little head and luxurious appointments; such a woman as runs Princes crazy, but never sensible people. Catcazy was a Prince, or something, and had to fall in love with another man's wife. They eloped together. The divorce hanging fire in Russia, they bought a next year's almanac, moved forward the clock, and formed a matrimonial syndicate until such time as the Czar should forward the marriage certificate."

SIR RICHARD WALLACE has presented to the National Gallery the picture by Terburg of "The Congress of Munster," bought by Sir Richard at Prince Demidoff's sale for £7,350. Sir W. Boxall offered £7,000 at the sale, and then retired from the bidding. The Times, in announcing Sir Richard Wallace's generous gift, says: "As an example of minute, delicate, and at the same time powerful portrait-painting, this is undoubtly the most remarkable picture in the world. Every one of the many heads is a study in itself, in which the individuality of character is brought out with astonishing force and precision."

THE N. Y. Evening Post says: It is reported that the Americus Club ball, for which the Academy of Music and Irving Hall had been engaged for the 5th of January, will not be held, and that all the preparations thus far made will be cancelled. In this connection it may be worth while to note that one diamond broker in Broadway has purchased no less than eighteen Americus Club badges set with diamonds, during the past week. Some of the members at Greenwich last summer had club badges set with diamonds, rubies and emeralds fastened to the rosettes on their horses' heads! We feel safe in predicting that very few diamond-bedecked rosettes will be worn on the heads of their quadrupeds after the legislature meets.

ACCORDING to Baron Haussman's project for the reconstruction of the Credit Mobilier Company, to be submitted to a general meeting on the 11th inst., the net assets of the old company, estimated at 48,000,000 of francs, will be received into the new in exchange for 96,000 paid-up shares of 500 francs each. In consequence, the proprietors of the 240,000 shares of the former company will receive two of the new for every five of the old: also a proportional right of priority to the subscriptions for 48,000 of the 64,000 by which the fresh capital of 32,000,000 is to be raised. On these latter, 125 francs will be paid on application, and the remainder in three installments at intervals of three months. The subscription was to be open from the 12th to the 21st of November.

The Daily News correspondent in Paris mentions that an exception to the great French principle of "equality" is about to be made in the police lock-up house. Hitherto, a gentleman of the class of those who wrench off knockers or assault a policeman was liable, if arrested when reeling drunk out of the Cafe Anglais or Maison Doree, to be thrown into a dungeon with dirty vagabonds and common malefactors. To remedy such an inconvenience, Gen. Valentin, the Prefect of Police, proposes to establish first, second and third class cells. The well dressed nocturnal brawler will find his rank respected even in the cage; and the small fine which he may be adjudged to pay will not be superadded to the total destruction of a suit of clothes. The ordinary catch of policemen in the course of a night—petty larceny and assault cases—will find a lodging in class No. 2; and No. 3 will be reserved only for the dangerous classes—murderers, burglars and escaped convicts.

NORTH CAROLINA is in an unusually jubilant condition at present, and justly so. She has discovered that tobacco can be grown in many of the counties west of the Blue Ridge, and so she boldly flings out in the face of Virginia her red flag of defiance. The particular counties in which the culture of the tobacco plants has been adopted have been noted hitherto for the production of rich, sweet grass, and for some of the finest apples in the country. In 1869 a gentleman from Virginia, considering that the soil and climate ought to be suitable for the production of tobacco, tried the experiment by planting two acres; the following year he tried twenty-five acres, and this year one hundred and fifty acres. Each experiment has been a decided success. The bright yellow tobacco produced has a large leaf with a fine texture, and the color all that can be desired for a wrapper. Since Mr. Shelton has been so successful, several other gentlemen have gone into the business, and it is now asserted that they have 200,000 pounds of tobacco for sale this year in that State.

The Secret of the German Victories.

The description of the victory of Sedan was some time ago translated into Sanscrit by a German Lieutenant of Hussars, who, in private life, occupied the position of a teacher of that language. This account having reached India has been published, with comments, in the "Nur-ul-Absar," or "Light of the Eyes,"—a Sanscrit journal. The editor of that newspaper, in his remarks on the German victories, insinuates that they were the result of the cunning with which the German warriors, being well acquainted with the Eastern tongues, had made use of the magic formulas found in the fourth book of the "Vedas," and represents King William as seated in the centre of the battle field, with a lotus flower in one hand, and calmly awaiting the results of the fight. The editor, however, seems to sympathize with the French and recommends the Generals of that nation to study the Eastern languages, and thereby obtain from the "Puranas" and "Sutras" more potent spells than those employed by the Germans. A Calcutta paper sarcastically remarks that the study of an essay on artillery practice would prove still more efficacious.

There is considerable action among steamboatmen, and a number of steamers are receiving for Southern points. It is reported that the opening of the canal will be deferred two or three days. Only the old locks can be used till the accumulated mud is out of the locks, which is the work of the canal company. It will probably be on the 1st of January, or later, before this can be done, as at least fourteen thousand cubic yards of mud are in the locks.
